As Defense Leaders Struggle With Strikes Across U. S.

Federal labor conciliators and the new U. S. mediation board are moving to stem the growing tide of strikes threatening the huge national defense and aid-to-Britain program, but even as this effort got under way new strikes started, notably one at the Bethlehem Steel company's Cambria plant in Johnstown, Pa., at almost the same time that union leaders and company officials announced a settlement of the strike at the Bethlehem plant in Bethlehem, Pa. Pictured above are the principal conferees as they announced the successful mediation at Bethlehem. Left to right they are W. L Trumbauer, company labor representative; Thomas Lambert, federal conciliator; Charles Kutz, Pennsylvania state mediator, and John Riffe, regional director of the CIO's Steel Workers Organizing Committee. SWOC members are shown left, as they "roughed up" an "independent" during a "dues picketing" campaign at the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation plant at Gary, Ind. Photo at right shows police at Richmond, Ind., extinguishing fire in which strikers heated iron bars during battle with police at the International Harvester company plant.

Mediation Board Assembles for New Job

Seek to Return 22,000 to Jobs

Big Job Tackled at Washington as Cyclops Steel Management And Strikers Reach Accord

(By Associated Press)

Encouraged by the prospect of work resumption in some key defense industries, the new mediation board today tackled the specific job of getting more than 22,000 striking workers back to their benches in vital munitions plants.

The board members assembled in Washington to begin mediation efforts in strikes called by the CIO Farm Equipment Workers Organizing Committee at four mid-west plants of the International Harvester company, employing 20,000; by AFL electrical workers at the Condenser corporation at South Plainfield, N. J., employing 2,200; and at the Vanadium corporation, Bridgeville, Pa., employing 400.

The CIO Harvester workers meet tomorrow to decide whether to go back to work as requested by the board and whether to meet with the board and company officials in Washington Monday. The union seeks higher wages and other concessions.

A strike at the Midland Steel Products company, Detroit, important to the automotive industry, was tentatively settled yesterday after 18 uncertain days.

CIO and management also reached an agreement affecting 1,400 workers at the plant of the Universal Cyclops Steel corporation, Bridgeville, Pa. The five-weeks' strike had been turned over to the mediation board for settlement.

Settlement of the strike at the Bethlehem Steel company's huge plant at Bethlehem, Pa., however, did not end the firm's labor difficulties.

The CIO industrial union of Marine and Shipyard Workers authorized its leaders to call a strike of 1,500 workers in Bethlehem's Hoboken shipyards. The dispute centered on what the union called a failure to get a contract after eight weeks' negotiations.

2 DAYS LEFT FOR CAR TAGS

Auto Club Busy as Deadline For 1941 Licenses Nears; Police Have Orders.

With approximately 3,000 plates to be sold today and Monday during the last two days of the sale of 1941 automobile license plates, the Richland County Auto club announced today that 750 plates were sold yesterday in the busiest day of the annual sale this year.

Plates sold to date at the club total 7,548 as against last year's figure of 6,726 for the same period, according to club officials. The expected sale this year is 10,225.

More truck plates were sold yesterday than any previous day in the sale. Approximately 180 plates were sold, club officials said. Nearly 5,000 truck plates will be sold by the club this year.

Deadline day for the purchase of plates is Monday. The Automobile club is open from 8:30 a. m. to 8 p. m.

There will be no extension of time for the purchase of plates, officials said.

State highway patrolmen and police have received instructions to pick up motorists seen driving with 1940 plates after midnight Monday.

PROBING BOMB

London Police Investigate Blast That Wrecks U. S. Mail.

LONDON—(INS)—Scotland Yard today began an investigation of a bomb, mailed from the United States, which exploded in a Mount Pleasant post office, in London.

Fragments of the bomb—a small, cigar-shaped explosive—were handed over to detectives. The explosion completely destroyed the contents of a mail bag from the United States

ELECTRIC RATE CUT HITS SNAG

Council Committee Fails To Meet Again; Two Members Differ on Views.

A plan by city officials for speedy acceptance of the reduction in electric rates offered in a five-year contract proposed by the Ohio Public Service company hit a temporary snag today as the utilities committee of city council failed a second time to meet to discuss the measure.

There was also difference of opinion of two committee members on whether council will take action on the proposal next Tuesday night.

Russell D. Porch, chairman of the committee, said that he was unable to get Councilman Fred Miller and Arthur L. Croak to attend a conference on the proposal last night but that he would submit the ordinance to council Tuesday night regardless. An attempt to meet Thursday night was also unsuccessful.

Miller told Porch that the only time he could attend a meeting would be Monday afternoon. Porch is making arrangements for such a meeting.

Croak refused to comment on the ordinance, today, saying that he would rather wait until he had studied the proposal and the committee had met.

CONFER AGAIN

Von Ribbentrop, Matsuoka In Third Berlin Parley.

BERLIN—(AP)—Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka had a third and lengthy conversation with Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop this morning, it was announced by authorized sources.

He also saw other Japanese diplomats from European capitals and had a talk with Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering. He is preparing to depart for Rome Sunday afternoon.

The topics of the talks of Matsuoka and Von Ribbentrop were not revealed, but all foreign office sources stressed their cordial character.

Will Author Be Able to Remain In U. S. Refuge?

NEW YORK—Will Jan Valtin be able to stay in the refuge he has found in the United States, or must he go back to face the ire of dictators he exposed in his book?

That was a vital question for both Valtin, author of "Out of the Night" and United States immigration officials today.

Valtin, whose real name is Richard Julius Herman Krebs, was free on $5,000 bond after his arrest yesterday by immigration officials, who took him to Ellis island.

He will be given a hearing April 14 on charges he is in the country illegally.

Valtin, despite his legal troubles, declared he was impressed by the treatment he received at the hands of American officials.

"The difference between the brutal torture one undergoes in questioning in Germany or Russia and the treatment I have received from American offi-

TWO HIT BY CARS ON CITY STREETS

Lexington Man, 73, Struck By Hit-Skip Driver; Boy, 4, Hurt; 7 Die In Ohio.

Two pedestrians were injured by automobiles in Mansfield last night and early today, one of them by a hit-skip driver.

Found lying in the street at East Fourth and Adams street at 2:15 a. m. today, F. M. Geary, of Lexington, was taken to police headquarters by Tony Rittinger, 390 Grace street, and Norman Poth, Mansfield R. D. 2.

Geary, who suffered minor injuries, was treated by a physician, and taken to his home. George could give no description of the car that struck him, police said.

Frederick Stromінger, four years old, suffered face and head injuries shortly before 5 p. m. Friday when he was struck by an automobile driven by W. Dale

CALLS SEWAGE PLANT MEETING

Mayor Summons Committee to Study Recommendations, Engineer's Complaints.

Mayor William J. Locke announced today that he had called a conference of city officials and members of the water and sewer committee of the Chamber of Commerce for Thursday night to consider recommendations received by the city in reference to operation of its sewage disposal plant.

The mayor said that the criticism levelled at the city by George B. Sowers, designer of the plant, was not responsible for the meeting but that he had been considering such a conference for many weeks.

Included on the chamber's committee, according to the mayor, are many of the city's leading engineers who, he said, are well qualified to discuss possible action to be taken in regard to the plant's operation.

Sowers Thursday said that the city was operating the plant inefficiently, and that a $100,000 bond issue should be made to improve the city's sewer system. He stated that the disposal plant was all right if operated correctly. He also condemned the by-passing of partially-treated sewage.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton and J. R. Turner, superintendent of the plant, inspected the Elyria sewage plant yesterday to find how that city, which also by-passes sewage, resumed operation in the spring.

Crafton said that the plant would be opened within the next few days but that it would take almost a month before the bacteria count needed to operate it correctly would be reached.

Turner said that no date could be set for the time when the plant would actually operate as intended. "The animal life is there," he said, "but it is hard to say when it will have developed enough to act upon the sludge."

President's Yacht Driven Into Port By Storm Threat

ABOARD DESTROYER RENSON, (AP) The threat of stormy winds off Florida drove President Roosevelt's yacht Potomac into Port Everglades harbor early today.

The Potomac tied up after a fishing cruise of about 400 miles north of the Bahamas. Today's weather forecasts for this area were unpromising and Mr. Roosevelt ordered the Potomac into harbor to assure the comfort of the "fair weather" sailors in his party.

He also wanted to make certain that he would be in port tonight for his nation-wide radio address to Jackson day dinners.

He disclosed no plans prior to the broadcast and there was no assurance that the Potomac would sta, in port throughout the day.

Estimates Winter Damage On Richland Roads At $165,000

Completing a survey of winter road damage in Richland county and general deterioration of county roads, County Engineer Howard Sword estimated today that it will require $165,000 to put the county's highway system in good condition.

The engineer pointed out that not all of the damage was from winter freezing and thawing, adding that some of it was the result of the usual wear on roads and damage from snow plows and maintainers during the past winter.

"Unless this work is done, the roads will not stand another bad winter," Sword said.

He asserted, however, that there is little liklihood that all of the needed repairs can be made this year, since the county must pay half of the cost of a new bridge to be built over Touhy's run on North Main street and help with the construction of the Erie underpass on route 30-N west of the city.

Bulk of the work to be done is in the north end of the county where "black-top" roads were hard hit by the winter weather. Needing immediate care, he said, are roads in Plymouth, Cass, Butler, Sharon, Bloominggrove, Madison, Springfield and Sandusky townships.

It is expected that repair operations will start soon after April 1 when all the frost is out of the ground.

Axis Partners Pose Deadline For Decision

German Families Leaving as Berlin Press Charges Insults to Its Nationals; London Expects Big Development Soon

BULLETIN

BELGRADE—(UP)—Yugoslavia's new government was reported making progress in cementing Croat support for a united nation today as German families started leaving Yugoslavia for Germany.

(By United Press)

Germany appeared to be preparing today for a showdown with Yugoslavia that may vitally affect the war in the Balkans.

Both Berlin and Rome hinted that three days had been given the new Yugoslav government to decide its attitude toward the Axis. The Berlin press reported disorders and insults to Germans in Belgrade. Belgrade dispatches said German families were leaving or preparing to leave Yugoslavia. Budapest heard the Germans had halted Danube river traffic through Yugoslavia.

"The Reich government does not intend to permit its policies to be decided by terroristic street mobs in Belgrade," an authorized Nazi source said. "If forces in Yugoslavia think they must oppose friendship with the Axis and reject the pact with the Axis they must bear the responsibility."

The Balkan war picture generally was believed to be coming rapidly into focus as a result of the Yugoslav military coup d'etat, with every indication that the climax might be reached within a few days. Istanbul heard that Germany had concentrated 150,000 troops in the southwest corner of Bulgaria in a position to strike at Greece or Yugoslavia.

There was a hint from London, too, that a climax might be near. Prime Minister Winston Churchill had been scheduled to deliver a special broadcast Sunday night but it was announced that the speech had been postponed for several days, indicating that some big development in the war and possibly in the Balkan crisis might be expected.

In Belgrade there were minor demonstrations, attributed to Communists opposing aid to "imperialistic" Britain, but dispatches failed to clarify the attitude of the new government toward the Axis pact, which guaranteed Yugoslav neutrality and providing for transport of German military supplies and wounded soldiers through Yugoslavia.

It was stated that the cabinet was busy with domestic problems—chiefly efforts to win cooperation of the Croats—and that it would not be hurried into decisions on foreign policy. Radio broadcast heard in Rome reported that the Belgrade foreign office had informed the German minister that Yugoslavia considered itself bound to the Axis pact but it was pointed out that all indications at Belgrade pointed toward strict neutrality that would actually nullify the original purpose of the pact.

Another hint of stiffening British attitude toward the Axis allies came from London where Lieut. Commander R. T. H. Fletcher, parliamentary private secretary to the first lord of the admiralty, started agitation for ousting the Japanese diplomatic staff from England.

Fletcher criticized in a speech the presence of the Japanese ambassador in Britain on the grounds that he was able to report British secrets to Germany. He said that Britain had no reason to handle

SEA FIGHT: Italian Ships Attacked By British, Greeks

(By United Press)

LONDON—An admiralty communique today said that at least one Italian Littorio class battleship and two Italian cruisers had been severely damaged in a naval engagement in the eastern Mediterranean.

The battle started on Friday, the communique said. The British navy sighted the Italian fleet of a battleship, cruisers and destroyers, which immediately scattered, the statement said.

Some of the warships were engaged, however it added.

The Littorio class battleships are of 35,000 tons. The Littorio was completed in 1937 and carries a normal crew of 1,600 men.

The operations in the eastern Mediterranean are continuing, the admiralty said but only preliminary reports are available.

"Greek naval forces are taking part in the operations," it added, while naval aircraft and units of the R. A. F. have carried out attacks. The results of these attacks are not yet known.

(The Italian high command reported today that British naval formations had been attacked by Italian planes and that an aircraft carrier and two cruisers had been hit. One cruiser was believed sunk, the communique said.)

CONVOYS: Official Asserts U. S. Has Plan To Guard Ships

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—One of the most important officials in the government today advised International News Service that plans have been drafted for U. S. naval convoy of merchant ships for Britain and only await President Roosevelt's approval.

This official believes the convoy program will receive the president's approval and be initiated within the next two or three weeks. His words were: "It is decidedly imminent."

Questioned as to the nature of the convoy program, the official declined to give details. He called attention however to the president's recent "fireside chat," in which Mr. Roosevelt said:

"The great task of this day, the deep duty which rests upon us is to move products from the assembly lines of our factories to the battle lines of democracy—now."

From other sources, it was learned that high navy officials are confident that the U. S. navy can execute convoy duty in the Atlantic without weakening the U. S. fleet in the Pacific. One naval authority said:

"We have ample ships in the Atlantic to carry on this work. As a matter of fact, the possibility of convoy duty in the Atlantic was given serious consideration before the navy agreed to release those fifty over-age destroyers to Britain, but whatever happens, there will be no weakening of the fleet in the Pacific."

The convoy program has been drawn up by high national defense officials, including naval officers. The program is contained in a report that exhausts the subject of transporting war materials to Britain.

These officials all declined to discuss the political eventualities of American convoys for Britain. They insisted that was a question to be decided by the president with its outcome depending on future events, such as what steps Ger-

INSPECTOR WADE

YOUR ATTEMPT TO GET OUT DIDN'T WORK, DID IT?
BLIMEY, WE'RE BACK, AIN'T WE?
3-24
WE FIGURED WE'D TAKE OVER CONTROL OF THE NATIVES, THEN COME BACK AN' GET YOU.... BUT WE DIDN'T COUNT ON PRATUNG.
WHAT HAPPENED TO WADE?
PRATUNG SLAPPED JIM IN A HUT BY HIMSELF... SEE HIM, SAGE?
HE SEEMS TO BE TALKING TO THE NATIVE GUARD/
HOW YOU PUT SPELL ON ME?
I AM A GREAT MAGICIAN....
I HOPE HE DOESN'T NOTICE I USED A MIRROR TO CONCENTRATE THE SUN'S RAYS AND BURN HIM.... IT WOULDN'T BE MAGIC ANY MORE/
THIS BABY STILL ISN'T CONVINCED. MAYBE HE NEEDS ANOTHER DEMONSTRATION...
3-25
I AM GREAT MAGICIAN. I WILL MAKE THIS STICK BURST INTO FLAME. WATCH/
CONCEALED IN ONE HAND, THE CONCAVE MIRROR FOCUSES HEAT FROM THE SUN —— AND THE MATCH BURSTS INTO FLAME/
AAAAH!
THE BWANA IS GREAT — I AM THE BWANA'S SLAVE/
NOW WE'RE GETTING SOMEPLACE/
OKAY, SLAVE/ DROP AROUND AFTER DARK—— AND BRING A LAMP/
I TOLD THAT NATIVE TO COME BACK AFTER DARK.... I HOPE HE STILL TAKES ME FOR A GREAT MAGICIAN....
3-26
I PULLED A COUPLE OF TRICKS ON HIM AND HE BANGED HIS HEAD ON THE GROUND AND CALLED ME "BWANA" ... HE THINKS I PUT HIM UNDER A SPELL....
IF THE SPELL STILL LINGERS HE'LL BE BACK.... IF IT DOESN'T— WELL, A GUY CAN ONLY DIE ONCE..
I HAVE COME, AS YOU COMMANDED, BWANA ...
WHEW/ NOW I CAN STOP HOLDING MY BREATH/
THE BWANA IS A MIGHTY WITCH DOCTOR.... WHAT DOES THE BWANA COMMAND?
3-27
GO/ TELL YOUR PEOPLE TO LEAVE THIS PLACE AT ONCE, BEFORE IT IS CONSUMED BY FIRE/
I GO/ MY PEOPLE WILL GO/
NOW TO TAKE CARE OF THAT SECRET AIRDROME...
A LITTLE MORE GASOLINE AND IT'LL BE ALL SET.... BEFORE PRATUNG KNOWS IT, HE'LL BE A SPY WITHOUT A SECRET/
HERE IT GOES/
3-28
AS THE LAMP ARCS TOWARDS THE SPILLED GASOLINE, WADE RUNS FOR DEAR LIFE....
GOOD THING THE WIND'S THE OTHER WAY— OR I'D HAVE SPARKS IN MY HIP POCKET/
THE LAMP SMASHES IN THE GASOLINE....
... A FIERCE ROAR AND THE FLAMES BLAZE WITH HURRICANE FURY/
JIM/ YOU'RE FREE/
TAKE A LOOK, DON/
THE SECRET AIRDROME/
IT'S ON FIRE/ BUT HOW DID YOU DO IT? HOW DID YOU GET FREE IN THE FIRST PLACE?
IT'S A LONG STORY, DON— AND IT ALL STARTED WITH MIRRORS/ ... NOW I'VE GOT TO GET YOU GUYS OUT BEFORE PRATUNG WAKES UP/
FIRE/ SOME-ONE WILL PAY FOR THIS/

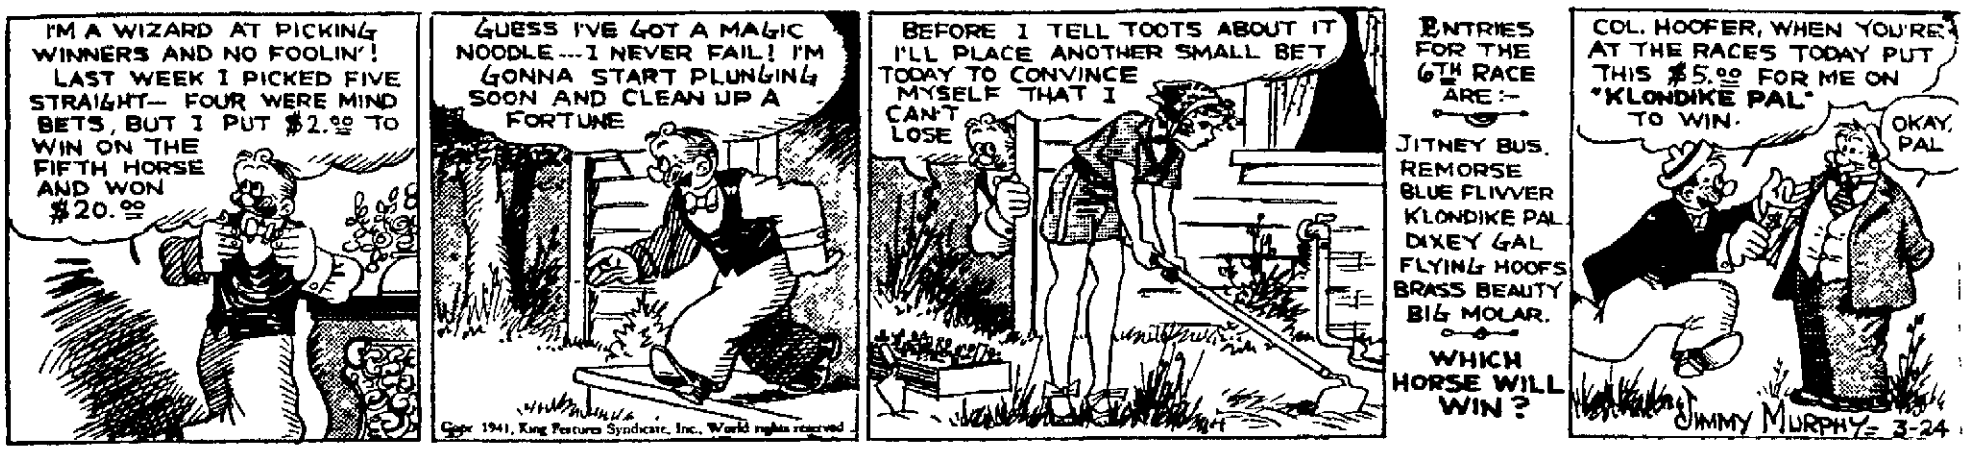
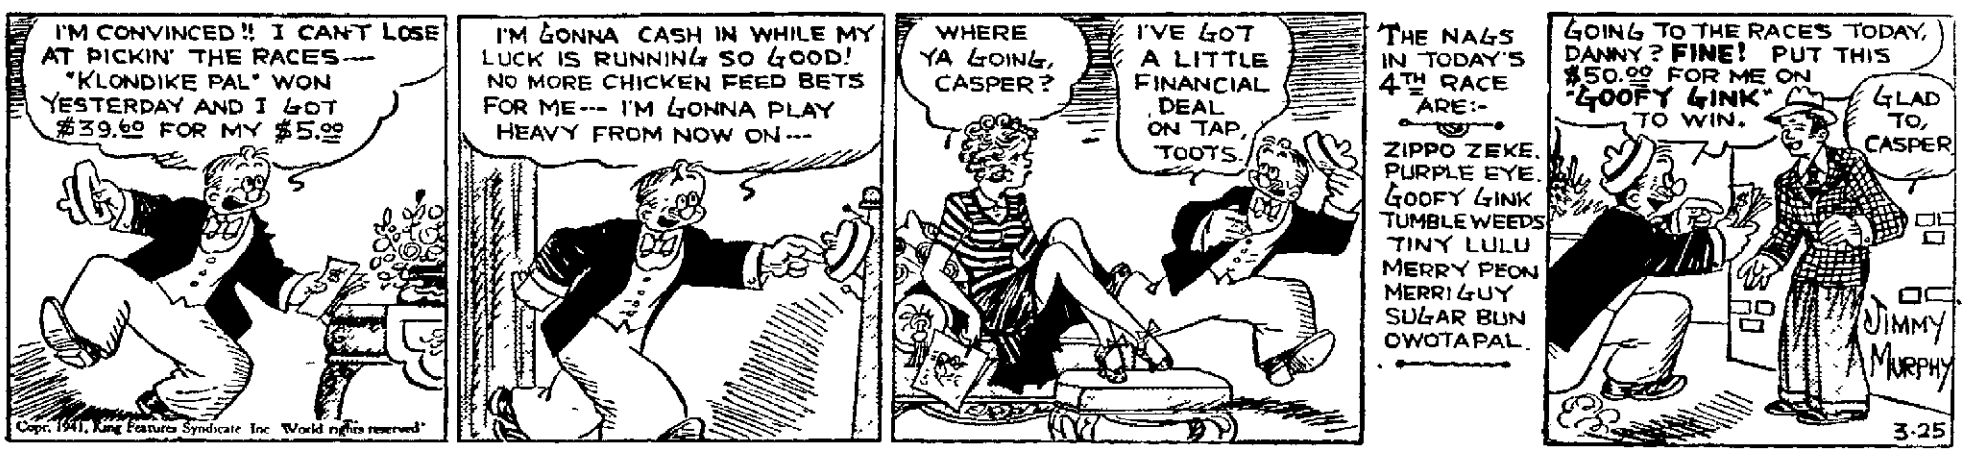
TOOTS AND CASPER



I'M A WIZARD AT PICKING WINNERS AND NO FOOLIN'! LAST WEEK I PICKED FIVE STRAIGHT— FOUR WERE MIND BETS, BUT I PUT $2.00 TO WIN ON THE FIFTH HORSE AND WON $20.00
GUESS I'VE GOT A MAGIC NOODLE---I NEVER FAIL! I'M GONNA START PLUNGING SOON AND CLEAN UP A FORTUNE
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
BEFORE I TELL TOOTS ABOUT IT I'LL PLACE ANOTHER SMALL BET TODAY TO CONVINCE MYSELF THAT I CAN'T LOSE
ENTRIES FOR THE 6TH RACE ARE:-
JITNEY BUS. REMORSE BLUE FLIVVER KLONDIKE PAL DIXEY GAL FLYING HOOFS BRASS BEAUTY BIG MOLAR.
WHICH HORSE WILL WIN?
COL. HOOFER, WHEN YOU'RE AT THE RACES TODAY PUT THIS $5.00 FOR ME ON "KLONDIKE PAL" TO WIN.
OKAY, PAL
JIMMY MURPHY 3-24



I'M CONVINCED!! I CAN'T LOSE AT PICKIN' THE RACES--- "KLONDIKE PAL" WON YESTERDAY AND I GOT $39.60 FOR MY $5.00
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate Inc. World rights reserved.
I'M GONNA CASH IN WHILE MY LUCK IS RUNNING SO GOOD! NO MORE CHICKEN FEED BETS FOR ME--- I'M GONNA PLAY HEAVY FROM NOW ON--- WHERE YA GOING, CASPER?
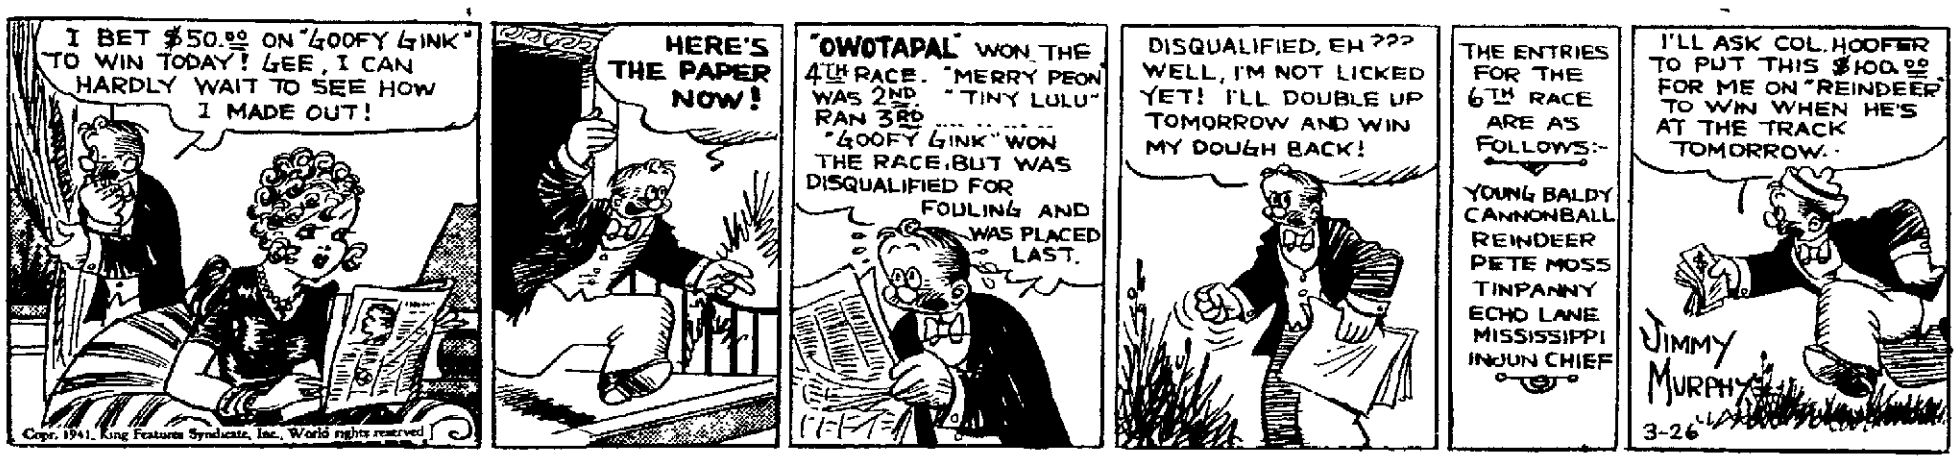
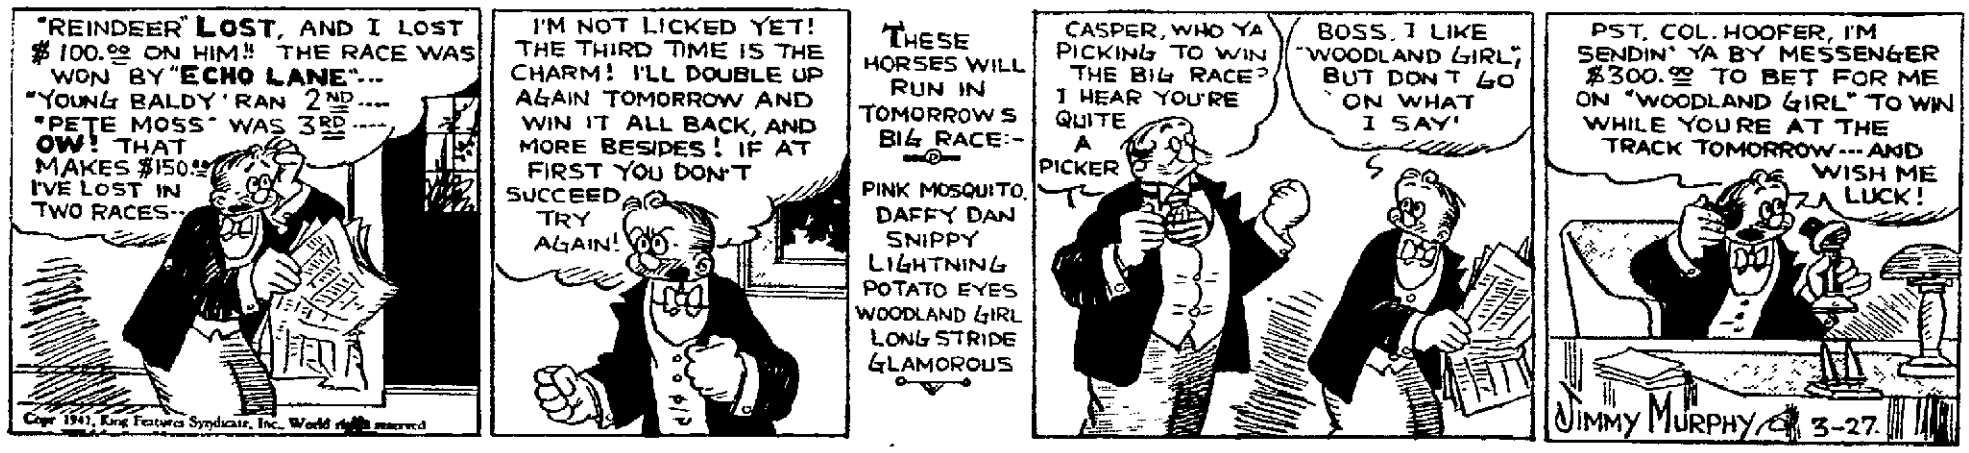
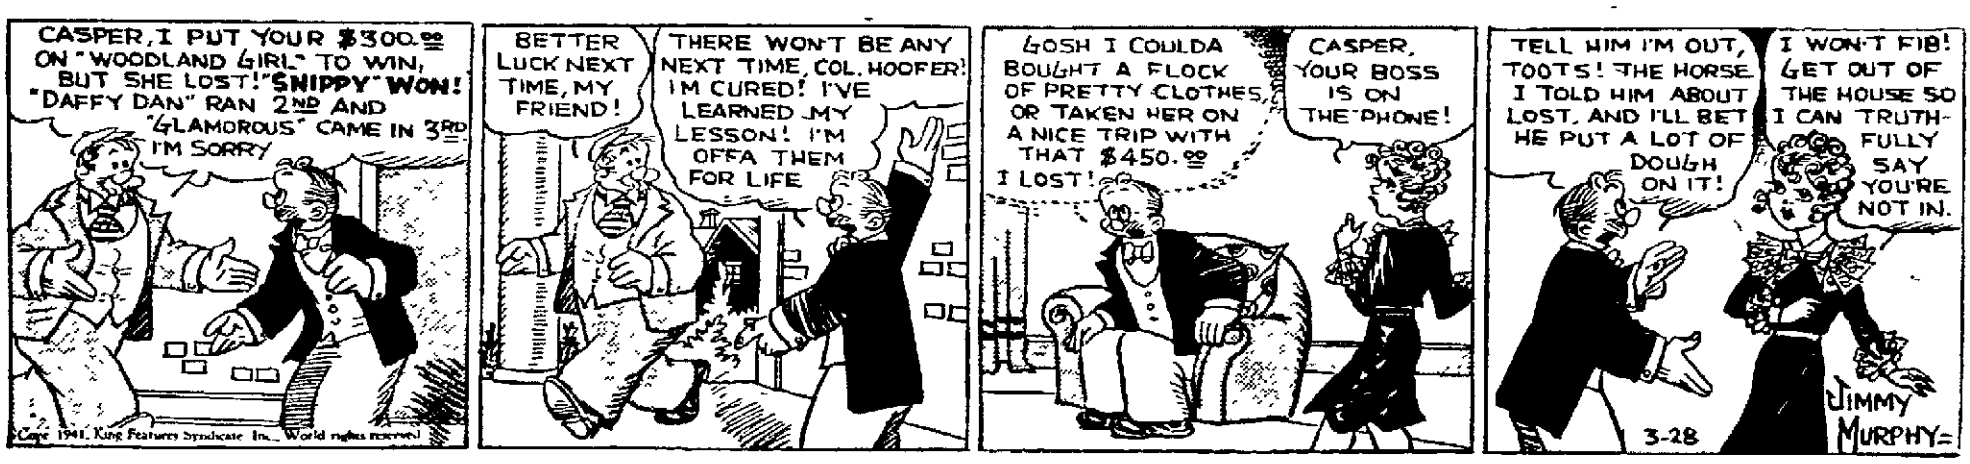
I'VE GOT A LITTLE FINANCIAL DEAL ON TAP, TOOTS.
THE NAGS IN TODAY'S 4TH RACE ARE:-
ZIPPO ZEKE. PURPLE EYE. GOOFY GINK TUMBLEWEEDS TINY LULU MERRY PEON MERRIGUY SUGAR BUN OWOTAPAL.
GOING TO THE RACES TODAY, DANNY? FINE! PUT THIS $50.00 FOR ME ON "GOOFY GINK" TO WIN.
GLAD TO, CASPER
JIMMY MURPHY 3-25



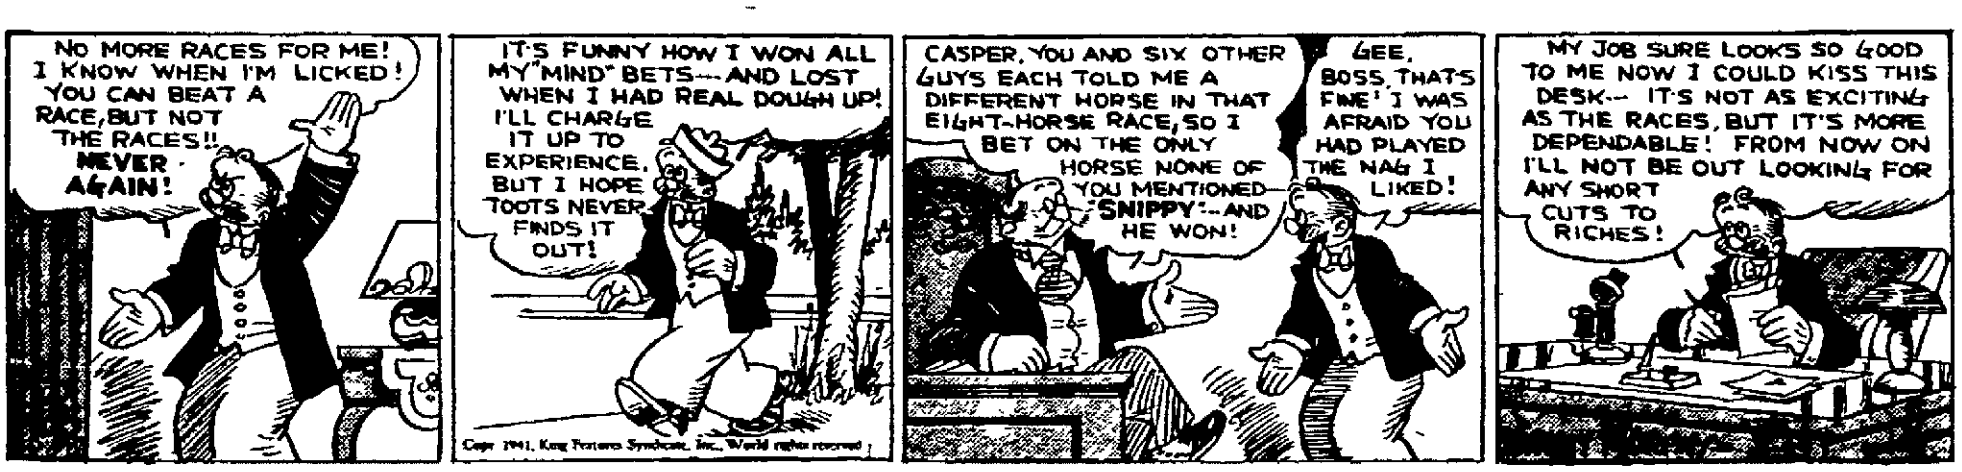
I BET $50.00 ON "GOOFY GINK" TO WIN TODAY! GEE, I CAN HARDLY WAIT TO SEE HOW I MADE OUT!
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
HERE'S THE PAPER NOW!
"OWOTAPAL" WON THE 4TH RACE. "MERRY PEON" WAS 2ND ... "TINY LULU" RAN 3RD ... "GOOFY GINK" WON THE RACE, BUT WAS DISQUALIFIED FOR FOULING AND WAS PLACED LAST.
DISQUALIFIED, EH??? WELL, I'M NOT LICKED YET! I'LL DOUBLE UP TOMORROW AND WIN MY DOUGH BACK!
THE ENTRIES FOR THE 6TH RACE ARE AS FOLLOWS:-
YOUNG BALDY CANNONBALL REINDEER PETE MOSS TINPANNY ECHO LANE MISSISSIPPI INJUN CHIEF
I'LL ASK COL. HOOFER TO PUT THIS $100.00 FOR ME ON "REINDEER" TO WIN WHEN HE'S AT THE TRACK TOMORROW.
JIMMY MURPHY 3-26



"REINDEER" LOST, AND I LOST $100.00 ON HIM!! THE RACE WAS WON BY "ECHO LANE"--- "YOUNG BALDY" RAN 2ND--- "PETE MOSS" WAS 3RD--- OW! THAT MAKES $150.00 I'VE LOST IN TWO RACES--
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
I'M NOT LICKED YET! THE THIRD TIME IS THE CHARM! I'LL DOUBLE UP AGAIN TOMORROW AND WIN IT ALL BACK, AND MORE BESIDES! IF AT FIRST YOU DON'T SUCCEED TRY AGAIN!
THESE HORSES WILL RUN IN TOMORROW'S BIG RACE:-
PINK MOSQUITO. DAFFY DAN SNIPPY LIGHTNING POTATO EYES WOODLAND GIRL LONG STRIDE GLAMOROUS
CASPER, WHO YA PICKING TO WIN THE BIG RACE? I HEAR YOU'RE QUITE A PICKER
BOSS, I LIKE "WOODLAND GIRL", BUT DON'T GO ON WHAT I SAY!
PST, COL. HOOFER, I'M SENDIN' YA BY MESSENGER $300.00 TO BET FOR ME ON "WOODLAND GIRL" TO WIN WHILE YOU'RE AT THE TRACK TOMORROW---AND WISH ME LUCK!
JIMMY MURPHY 3-27.



CASPER, I PUT YOUR $300.00 ON "WOODLAND GIRL" TO WIN, BUT SHE LOST! "SNIPPY" WON! "DAFFY DAN" RAN 2ND AND "GLAMOROUS" CAME IN 3RD. I'M SORRY
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
BETTER LUCK NEXT TIME, MY FRIEND!
THERE WON'T BE ANY NEXT TIME, COL. HOOFER! I'M CURED! I'VE LEARNED MY LESSON! I'M OFFA THEM FOR LIFE
GOSH I COULDA BOUGHT A FLOCK OF PRETTY CLOTHES, OR TAKEN HER ON A NICE TRIP WITH THAT $450.00 I LOST!
CASPER, YOUR BOSS IS ON THE 'PHONE!
TELL HIM I'M OUT, TOOTS! THE HORSE I TOLD HIM ABOUT LOST, AND I'LL BET HE PUT A LOT OF DOUGH ON IT!
I WON'T FIB! GET OUT OF THE HOUSE SO I CAN TRUTHFULLY SAY YOU'RE NOT IN.
JIMMY MURPHY 3-28



NO MORE RACES FOR ME! I KNOW WHEN I'M LICKED! YOU CAN BEAT A RACE, BUT NOT THE RACES!! NEVER AGAIN!
IT'S FUNNY HOW I WON ALL MY "MIND" BETS---AND LOST WHEN I HAD REAL DOUGH UP! I'LL CHARGE IT UP TO EXPERIENCE. BUT I HOPE TOOTS NEVER FINDS IT OUT!
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
CASPER, YOU AND SIX OTHER GUYS EACH TOLD ME A DIFFERENT HORSE IN THAT EIGHT-HORSE RACE, SO I BET ON THE ONLY HORSE NONE OF YOU MENTIONED--"SNIPPY"--AND HE WON!
GEE, BOSS, THAT'S FINE! I WAS AFRAID YOU HAD PLAYED THE NAG I LIKED!
MY JOB SURE LOOKS SO GOOD TO ME NOW I COULD KISS THIS DESK-- IT'S NOT AS EXCITING AS THE RACES, BUT IT'S MORE DEPENDABLE! FROM NOW ON I'LL NOT BE OUT LOOKING FOR ANY SHORT CUTS TO RICHES!

IF IT HAPPENS LATE SATURDAY OR EARLY SUNDAY MORNING

It Will Be In The Sunday Edition of News-Journal

ETTA KETT

IF LITTLE JELLYBEAN FINDS OUT I'M NOT OLD ENOUGH TO DRIVE A CAR, SHE'LL NOT DATE ME ANY MORE!
AW--! LET'S WALK --- IT'S ONLY A COUPLA BLOCKS.
BUT WE'LL MISS THE FIRST OF THE PICTURE -- WHERE'S YOUR CAR?
WELL--AH--- DADS USING IT TONIGHT -- THAT PUTS ME ON THE HOOF---!! BUT I DON'T MIND WALKING!
LET'S USE OUR CAR -- IT'S IN THE GARAGE ---
I'LL GET THE KEYS!
I'D RATHER WALK!
IT--IT GIVES YA ROSY CHEEKS!
I'M WILD ABOUT WALKING!!!
WILLIE'S TAKING ME TO A MOVIE -- MAY HE DRIVE OUR CAR?
I FURNISH THE GIRL AND THE CAR!! IT'S A WONDER HE DOESN'T EXPECT ME TO BUY THE TICKETS!!
AM I BEHIND THE EIGHT-BALL! IF SHE FINDS OUT I'M NOT OLD ENOUGH TO DRIVE, SHE'LL GIVE ME THE AIR!!!
COME ON, BRAIN --- GET ME OUT OF THIS!
I'VE GOT THE KEYS!
ME DRIVE? NOTHING DOING!! SUPPOSE I PUT A DIMPLE IN A FENDER??
MAYBE YOU'RE RIGHT--- DAD WOULD BE FIT TO BLOW A FUSE!!! FLOP IN, I'LL DRIVE!
MY LUCK IS HOLDING!
I'VE GOT MY FINGERS CROSSED! ETTA HASN'T FOUND OUT I'M NOT OLD ENOUGH TO DRIVE!!--BUT I CAN'T GET AWAY WITH IT MUCH LONGER!
COME ON, SITTING BULL -- NO PARKING! LET'S DRIVE SOME PLACE!
OUTTA GAS!!
WHAT ON EARTH ARE YOU TWO ARGUING ABOUT?
HE WANTS TO SIT IT OUT---THIS IS A DATE -- NOT A DANCE!!
JUST WHAT THE YOUNG PEOPLE OF TODAY NEED, MORE OLD-FASHIONED EVENINGS AT HOME!! I'M GLAD TO FIND ONE BOY WHO HAS SOME COMMON SENSE!
WHAT IS THIS--THE GAY NINETIES!
LADY LUCK STILL SMILES ON ME!
FUNNY THING HOW GIRLS LIKE TO DATE BOYS THEIR OWN AGE--OR OLDER!! YOU KNOW WHAT I MEAN?
I'M WAY AHEAD OF YOU!!
MAYBE I'M WRONG--BUT SOMETHING TELLS ME THAT YOU'RE A LOT YOUNGER THAN I AM!!
THAT'S WHAT YOU THINK!! I'M LIKE A PRUNE -- I WRINKLE SLOWLY!
HI, WILLIE!! GOIN' TO THE SCOUT MEETING?
S-H-H-H!!
HOW PERFECTLY INTERESTING!!
AW, DON'T BE PIFFED, DAZZLE-DISH!! GEE, I COULDN'T BE ANY WACKIER ABOUT YOU IF I WERE OLD AS ADAM!
JOHN, DEAR--WILL YOU LOOK AND SEE IF YOUR CAR KEYS ARE GONE?
NOW, WHAT'S WRONG?
WELL--AH--THE CAR ISN'T IN THE GARAGE--AND WILLIE ISN'T IN HIS ROOM!!
THEY'RE NOT HERE!
WILLIE?
AND HE HAD A DATE--SO YOU KNOW WHAT IT ALL ADDS UP TO!
HE'S DRIVING WITHOUT A LICENSE! JOHN!! YOU'VE SIMPLY GOT TO FIND HIM BEFORE HE'S ARRESTED!!!
I'VE GOT A PRETTY GOOD IDEA WHERE TO FIND HIM!
IS MY SON HERE?
COULD BE! TAKE A LOOK AROUND. I DON'T KNOW HALF OF 'EM MYSELF!
SORRY! I'M JOHN BELLOWS, MY BOY'S NAME'S WILLIE! I THOUGHT MAYBE HE HAD A DATE WITH YOUR DAUGHTER?
OH, YEAH, WILLIE!! I HEARD HIM HONKING A LITTLE WHILE AGO--THINK THEY WENT FOR A RIDE!
BUT HE HASN'T A LICENSE--HE'S TOO YOUNG!! HE SNEAKED THE CAR OUT!
THAT'S BAD! DID YOU SEE WHICH WAY THEY WENT?
I HEARD ETTA SAY SOMETHING ABOUT DANCING!
I CAN'T CALL THE POLICE--THEY'D ARREST HIM!!

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Gossip In Gotham.

BRENDA FRAZIER and John Simms "Shipwreck" Kelly are vacationing simultaneously—and secretly—in a small Florida town. Honeymooning? . . . Watch for rift rumors about the John Jacob Astors again, just because she's been seen frequently without him on the Coast.

Kilgallen.

Jock Whitney is Olivia DeHavilland's new Jimmy Stewart. . . . Report has the Max Baers knitting tiny garments again. . . . Mark Barron, the newspaperman-husband of Erin O'Brien Moore—is seriously ailing. . . . Huntington Hartford refused to let a photographer snap him with Betty Hutton the other evening in a night club—so she's listening to barrister Freddie Kaplan's wooing again.

Model Patricia Garfield's steady-dater is a young gent with a famous pa. . . . Don Ameche is ducking Coast festivities consistently because his wife has been so ill since the birth of their last baby. . . . Rudy Vallee is mooning over Rosemary Lane. . . . Mitzi Green's brother, Harry, is Gone with the Draft. . . .

President Roosevelt will shortly favor extending the draft team of service from one year to two years.

Once in awhile Broadway is the background for a love story that is not tawdry or triangular or phoney, but genuine and very tender. The heroine of one of these is a pretty little chorus girl named Anna May Tesslo—"Tessie" to the other kids in the chorus—who pranced in "Too Many Girls" last season and this year was signed for a current hit. . . .

A day before the show opened, Tessie was shipped off to Saranac with two collapsed lungs. Ever since she has been fighting to regain her health. And the kids haven't forgotten her. They call her up once a week, and the whole backstage bunch talks to her and cheers her up. . . .

Her boy friend, Charles Rose, hasn't forgotten her either, as so often happens on Broadway. He visits her faithfully every week. This week he is going up with a little box in his pocket. The box contains a surprise for Tessie—an engagement ring.

Scene at the Savoy-Plaza the other night: Hildegarde kissing William Knudsen to get him to sing "My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean". . . . Ted Lewis lost a large hunk in San Francisco playing those dominoes. Very sad over it. . . .

Johnny Green, the maestro, has lost almost as many pounds as Alexander Woollcott. . . . The Emil (ork pilot) Pettis are divorcing in Palm Beach. . . .

Gold Stars: Linda Lee's chanting at the atmospheric Absinthe House. . . . Victor Mature's heroing job in "Lady in the Dark." . . . Gertie Lawrence's album of songs from the same show. . . . Russell Swann's trick stuff at the Raleigh Room. . . . Bill Perry's album of Victor Herbert melodies. . . .

The midnight doings at the Club 18, which have been stepped up by the addition of zany Roy Sedley. . . . Henry Jerome's Saturday matinee dansants at the Paramount Childs—the poor man's Plaza. . . . Mildred Bailey's out-of-this-worlding at the Ruban Bleu, backed by the Delta Rhythm Boys. Don't miss them!

Barbara Bannister is drinking a new combination in the bistros—one pony of brandy and one pony of milk. Claims it settles her stomach. Does what? . . . Joe McCluskey, the Fordham runner, and Patricia Likely, of "P. Hattie," have softening of the hearteries. . . . Donald Saxon, Ben Bernie's tenor, is sporting a new schnozz.

Noel Carter, the strip teaser who was reported holding hands with Artie Shaw, was actually doing the same with another bandleader, Gray Gordon, in Chicago. They've just arrived in town. . . .

Big Bill Dwyer, the legendary prohibition figure, is ailing down south. . . . Virginia Boyd, prettiest of the White House secretarial staff, will trek to the altar with Garrett Peck, a Florida lad.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Sam Wood, large, tweedy though not in tweeds, a pipe kind of man though not smoking, was pacing the floor of his wood-paneled office and putting his finger on something wrong with the movies.

ROBBIN COONS

"Casting," he said. "Too many pictures are handicapped in their chance for success by improper casting—by people who think any actor can play any role. It's a false idea, and it hurts a great many pictures."

HE CITED two recent films of his own in which casting the right people in the right spots mattered tremendously: "In 'Kitty Foyle' I thought Dennis Morgan and James Craig were ideal for their parts. I couldn't see Robert Cummings in either of those roles, and I couldn't use him at all in the picture. Then I did 'The Devil and Miss Jones.' The boy here had to have a certain gay youthful quality. He's fighting for the underdogs in the department store, and he has to do it in a gay, youthful manner—nat as if he were a veteran labor organizer. I couldn't see Morgan or Craig here, but I was practically on my knees to get Cummings. I got him. . . .

"For the 'Kitty Foyle' prologue, entirely in pantomime, I had to have exactly the right people or the point was lost. I couldn't use just anybody who happened to be under contract. I needed actors who could put over the scenes on their personalities and ability to hold attention. I got Heather Angel and Tyler Brooke, and it cost us money, but I think it was worth it. Why ruin a picture—and cut down its gross—to save a few hundred dollars? Here the players were bigger than the parts they played—they did it because I personally pleaded my case with them."

Sam Wood thinks, he said, that Hollywood could take profitable note of the English attitude toward roles. In casting "Goodbye, Mr. Chips," which he made in England, Wood noted the general willingness of players, even of stars, to accept roles on their merits rather than the number of pages of script involved. The doctor appearing briefly in the Mrs. Chips death sequence was then star of a London play. In London, said Sam, you took your script backstage to see a star about a role, and it was read with no thought of the part's "size." Greer Garson, who played Mrs. Chips, had been in Hollywood long enough to wonder about the relative "smallness" of her role but was reassured (rightly, as it developed) that the character would live as long as the film itself in memory.

Chatter Corner

(Just gettings about people you know, as they're seen here and there about town.)

E. B. "Ernie" Kallmorten bustling around town to get his work done in time to go to Columbus for the Jackson Day dinner. . . . The elevator girls in the Farmers Bank building stopping in the middle of a conversation to take some passengers up and returning to take up where they left off.

Jane Williams, secretary of the Community Fund, leaving for Cincinnati to attend a Community Fund exposition tomorrow and an Ohio Newspaper Women's association board meeting tonight. . . . Jane Stouch and Dorothy Blackstone talking with Marion Green home from Ohio State. . . . Martha Thompson packing for a week-end trip to Urbana.

Charlie Fuchs proud of a large birthday cake he made of paper and plaster of paris for First Congregational church party. . . . Friends here learning that Harold McBride of Mansfield, is a member of the Otterbein college deputation team which left Westerville today for a tour of Pennsylvania and New York.

Franklin Schaeffer passing the time of day in Boy Scout headquarters. . . . Robert McCormick and William Black sauntering along Third street. . . . Joann Balliett wearing a gardenia.

TICKETS FREE

Some Theater Ducats Left For Callers Over 60.

Free tickets for the current production at the Ohio theater are still available at the Mansfield News-Journal office for people over 60 years of age.

Ohio Manager William Harwell is presenting courtesy tickets, good for "Back Street," current film at the Ohio, to the first 25 people who call for them.

One ticket will be given to each eligible person as long as the supply lasts.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED

Pleading guilty in probate court to a statutory charge, Merritt Carlton, 23, Mansfield, had received a 120-day suspended workhouse sentence today. Judge Stuart H. Cramer suspended the sentence on the condition of good behavior and told Carlton to report weekly to Juvenile Officer Ralph Carroll for the next three months.

ASK REDUCTION

P. T. A. At Amoy To Seek Cut In Electric Rates.

A motion was made and unanimously passed at a meeting last night of the Amoy Parent-Teacher association to work for the reduction of electric rates in rural communities.

Contending that the rural rates were one third more than city rates, the P. T. A. group will contact all secretaries in the Union Rural school districts to work for a reduction of the present rates, Mrs. Blake Milhon, president, said.

WINDOW STOPS FIGHT

A fight in a night club on East Fifth street was abruptly terminated last night when one of the participants fell through a plate glass window in the door. He suffered no injuries and the proprietor pressed no charges after the fighter promised to pay for the window.

MAP PLANS FOR MOBILIZATION OF NURSES HERE

Mrs. Harry Buchan, Mansfield, Heads Organization Making Enrollment Drive.

Calling for an "all-out" mobilization of nurses in Richland and five other counties comprising District 5, Ohio Nurses' association, an organization for this purpose was effected at a meeting here Friday night at the Women's club.

Mrs. Harry Buchan, 973 Park avenue west, Red Cross overseas nurse during the World war, was chosen president. Other officers are: Mrs. George Fort, vice president; Mrs. Ray Donaldson, secretary, and Miss Faye Chamberlain, treasurer.

Need for First Reserve Red Cross nurses to meet the national defense requirements of army and navy was emphasized by Miss Lucille B. Lindsey, secretary of Red Cross nursing groups for the district and acting chairman of the meeting.

In view of the fact that the army has requisitioned 4,000 Red Cross nurses for active duty in army posts and camps throughout the country by next June, Miss Lindsey asked the organization to set a date for launching a six-week period of intensive effort to enroll every eligible nurse in this area in the First Reserve of Red Cross Nurses.

Wednesday, April 2, was chosen as the date to open the drive. Mrs. George Fort will be in charge of enrollment at the Richland county Chapter of Red Cross headquarters, which has offered the use of its office, from 9:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. and again in the evening from 7 to 8.

All registered nurses between 21 and 40 years of age are eligible to enroll, Mrs. Buchan said. They must be single, physically fit for all types of duty including military service, a high school graduate and a graduate of an approved school of nursing. Nurses must also be affiliated with the American Nurses association.

Appointment of a hospitality committee to arrange future meetings was made by Mrs. Buchan, Mrs. Harold Mitchell, Mrs. Harold Adams and Mrs. G. W. Weller compose the committee.

The organization, which will choose a name at the next session, will meet Monday night, April 7, at the Buchan home.

JURISTS ELECT

Elyria Judge Succeeds Huston as Association President.

Judge Guy B. Findley of Elyria had been chosen today to succeed Judge C. H. Huston of Richland county as president of the Ohio State Common Pleas Judges' association. Judge Huston has headed the organization for the past year.

Judge Charles A. Leach, Columbus, was elected vice president, and Judge Dana F. Reynolds, Columbus, secretary. The annual meeting was in Columbus.

Judge Findley, the new president, has been a common pleas judge in Lorain county for the past seven years and has heard cases by special assignment in Mansfield a number of times. He is also president of the Ohio Forestry association.

A committee was appointed yesterday by the association to prepare legislation giving jurists leaves-of-absence for military service.

HALT HEARING ON PATROLMEN

Akron Officers Testify In Case of 'Fatal Blackjacking.'

AKRON—(AP)—Following testimony of two Akron policemen, denying any "intent to kill" Walter Lamb, jr., 22, with their blackjacks, a preliminary hearing on second degree murder charges against the patrolmen went into adjournment today.

Lamb, a construction foreman at the Ravenna arsenal, died two days after his arrest on an intoxication charge.

Patrolman Jacob M. Yingling testified "I struck him to subdue him and protect myself from bodily harm."

POLICE CITE SUICIDE PACT

Bodies of Elderly Woman and Son-in-Law Are Found In Residence.

(By United Press)

CLEVELAND—Police said today that Mrs. Mary Baran, 75, a widow, and her son-in-law, Andrew Hudacko, 64, who were found shot to death in the woman's residence apparently had made a suicide pact.

An official ruling on the deaths was withheld until completion of an authorized translation of a note written in the Slovenian language. Neighbors of Slovenian extraction, however, translated the note as saying "We're both invalids and we'd be happier dead."

The body of Mrs. Baran, who was crippled by arthritis was found on the floor of the kitchen in her apartment with three bullet wounds in the chest. Hudacko's body lay nearby with a bullet hole in the head. His hand still grasped a revolver.

The shooting occurred at a four family residence owned by the widow. She rented three apartments in the building to relatives. Detective Gordon Shibley said he had been informed that the woman and her son-in-law had frequent arguments over the rent. Hudacko's wife said she could not account for the shooting, but confirmed that her husband and Mrs. Baran frequently argued about the rent he paid.

REFUSES DRAFT EXAMINATION

Former Sailor Brings About Test Case on Deferments.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Norbert A. Schultz, 27, former sailor in the United States navy, today announced he would refuse flatly to submit to a selective service physical examination, and thereby launched a test case in protest against alleged discrimination in not deferring honorably discharged sailors from the draft.

Schultz, who completed a four-year hitch in the Pacific fleet two years ago, now is an assistant purchasing agent in private industry.

CHIEF LINKS YOUTHS JAILED IN MICHIGAN TO ROBBERIES HERE

Police Chief Meade K. Bates said today that he believed that the two Ohio youths arrested yesterday at Kalamazoo, Mich., might be the same who committed a series of purse snatchings in this city earlier in the year. Bates said that a check would be made on their identification to determine if action will be taken.

Owen Bickle of Millersburg, suffered a minor bullet wound in his thigh when he and Claude Randles, 18, Coshocton, fled from an auto that crashed into a truck as Michigan state police chased them.

They were both arrested after admitting a series of purse snatchings in an around Kalamazoo in which half o dozen middle-aged women were slugged.

Another companion, Harold Cox, 21, Cohsocton, is still at large.

The trio is also wanted for a series of robberies in Dover, New Philadelphia, East Liverpool, Warren and Sharon. Kalamazoo police said, however, that Randles and Bickle will be tried on Michigan charges.

DRIVER FINED

Faces Court After Collision Involving Four Autos.

John Oney of Greenwich R. D. 2, charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol was fined today by Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court.

Police said Oney was arrested last night after his maneuvers had entangled four autos in an accident at Sixth and North Main streets. Judge Kalbfleisch fined him $150 and costs and suspended $100 of the fine on the condition that Oney pay for the damages to the other three cars.

The collision occurred when Oney's car hit the rear of another driven by Clifford Jackson of R. D. 5, and swung over into the side of a third car driven by Luther Ray of 140 Oakenwald avenue. Jackson's car was pushed forward by the original impact and crashed into the rear of another driven by Reno Watson of 250½ North Mulberry street.

Mansfield police nearly had their hands full last night when they admitted an intoxicated transient who immediately declared a desire to "beat up everyone in the bull pen." He was removed to a separate cell to cool off. Police arrested him after the owner of a North Main street confectionery found the transient breaking a window and stealing bags of peanuts from his store. The arrested man paid for the peanuts and then went to the city jail where he expressed his desire for action.

Mansfield youths who join the U. S. Navy without being able to swim won't remain in the land-lubber stage very long, according to W. G. Cox, chief petty officer in charge of the local recruiting station. During the preliminary training which the youths undergo before being assigned to a unit of the fleet they are taught to swim. A recruit cannot leave the training school until he can swim, Cox said. The day is rapidly passing when a man could belong to the U. S. Navy for years without knowing the art, Cox asserted.

YUGOSLAVIAN KING CABLED BY PRESIDENT

Observers Hail Message as Re-Birth of Wilsonian Policy for U. S.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Diplomatic circles today regarded President Roosevelt's "genuine wishes" for Yugoslavia's independence as further assurance that the Balkan kingdom could count on aid from the United States if it resists Axis aggression.

Mr. Roosevelt cabled his best wishes, and his hope that relations between this country and Yugoslavia may be "mutually beneficial," to King Peter II last night from the yacht Potomoc.

His cable was interpreted as backing the assurances of Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles Thursday that some war aid would be given Yugoslavia under the lend-lease program if it becomes the victim of aggression.

Mr. Roosevelt's cablegram to the 17-year-old monarch said:

"At this moment when your majesty has assumed the full exercise of your royal rights and powers of leadership of a brave and independent people, I wish to share with the people of the United States in the expression of our sincere and genuine wishes for the health and well-being of your majesty and for the freedom and independence of Yugoslavia.

"Furthermore, I extend the hope that the relations between your government and the government of the United States may be mutually beneficial in the support of those principles of liberty and tolerance so cherished by the Yugoslav and American peoples."

Some diplomatic observers hailed Mr. Roosevelt's prompt support of King Peter's new government as marking an effective re-birth of the national self-determination philosophy which motivated this country's World war policy under President Woodrow Wilson.

Northern Ohioans Contribute $900 As Defense Gifts

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Gifts to Uncle Sam have mounted to nearly $900 in the internal revenue offices here, all because about 100 northern Ohioans want to do something extra for national defense.

Frank F. Gentsch, collector of internal revenue, says contributions ranging from 31 cents to $63.70 have arrived in nearly every mail delivery, with notes saying the donors want to pay something in lieu of an income tax, or to pay additional sums.

Two men, partners in an East Palestine contracting firm, found their tax amounted to 66 cents. They sent along a check for $50.

A Clevelander said that business losses in 1940 put his tax $36.36 under the amount he paid for 1939, but he added the difference to his check. Another sent the amount of his exemption, $21.38.

Gentsch is starting to send out acknowledgements, containing hearty thanks.

LOSE SECOND ARREST SUIT

Massillon Officers Must Pay $4,000 to North Canton Man.

CANTON—(INS)—Police Chief Stanley Switer and Patrolman Joseph Slinger of Massillon today were losers of their second false arrest suit in three months, following an award of $4,000 to Carl McKinney of North Canton.

The suit grew out of the arrest last April 3 of McKinney and a companion, Richard R. Rossiter of Canton, in connection with a series of Massillon automobile thefts and purse snatchings. Rossiter was awarded $4,500 last January.

Lesson-Sermon Subject 'Reality'

"REALITY" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in the Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord hath brought forth our righteousness: come, and let us declare in Zion the work of the Lord our God" (Jeremiah 51:10).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "By faith Noah, being warned of God of things not seen as yet, moved with fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house; by the which he condemned the world and became heir of the righteousness which is by faith" (Hebrews 11:7).

First Methodist Services Listed

Rev. Edward G. Corwin, pastor of the First Methodist church, will use as his sermon topic for the Sunday service at 10:30 a. m., "The Kingdom That Cannot Be Shaken."

The Men's Brotherhood class will have a dinner meeting at the church Monday at 6:30 p. m. A former pastor of the church, Dr. Earl R. Brown, now district superintendent of the district Methodist church will be the speaker. Special music will be furnished by a male quartet composed of Milo Patterson, Clarence Lisle, Dr. Ralph Wadsworth and John K. Stonebrook.

The regular meeting of the official board will be held at the church Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

Circle 5 will meet with Mrs. George Lehr, 27 Florence avenue, Friday at 7:30 p. m.

A unit luncheon of all Circles will be held Thursday at 12:30 p. m. A program will follow the meeting.

CONDUCTS REVIVAL

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, MARCH 29, 1941.

Drive carefully tomorrow—and remember that "Stop" signs are there for YOUR protection.

The frequency with which "Woodrow W." appears as the given name of recruits indicates how fast time flies.

Cincinnati is following Mansfield's lead in installing parking meters—and Detroit would also be glad to take that progressive step, if it could find a way to eliminate graft.

Things Taken for Granted

BECAUSE of its reminders of privileges that are sometimes forgotten, the Chicago News printed a letter in which a citizen of the Windy City described the happenings of a routine day in his life.

He began with his breakfast of fresh fruit, eggs, toast with plenty of butter and two cups of coffee. He drove to work in his own car, filling up the tank at a neighborhood gas station at a modest price. He passed an industrial plant being picketed by workmen who "were striking for Utopia." He picked up a newspaper at a stand "where Democratic, Republican and nonpartisan newspapers were on sale, to say nothing of Socialist and Communist publications and various foreign-language papers."

Lunch was a hearty affair of roast-beef sandwich on white bread, chocolate pie and a glass of milk. It was Saturday, so his newspaper contained a page of church announcements representing all creeds. Conversations at lunch voiced a great variety of opinions and criticisms, favorable and unfavorable, of the government and various public officials.

On the way home he did the week-end marketing, getting a generous and varied supply of foods. Dinner was a matter of steak, potatoes, fresh vegetables, ice cream and coffee. Family and guests listened to the radio, talked about anything that interested them. One guest complained vociferously about the taxes he had to pay.

It is all so commonplace that Americans can't realize how much they have to be thankful for.

Clean-Up Time Approaching

SOON thousands of American communities will inaugurate their annual clean-up campaigns. Those campaigns give all towns a chance to achieve two highly important goals—a handsomer town, and a safer town.

A properly managed clean-up drive helps to lessen the ever-present danger of fire. Vacant lots are divested of litter. Old shacks are torn down. Buildings are repaired and painted. Dead trees and bushes are cut down. And when that happens, fire hazards are greatly reduced. Order and cleanliness are among fire's most effective enemies.

This year, the headquarters of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce is distributing fire prevention material, prepared by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, to its local members. The material consists of window displays, and an interesting leaflet which is to be distributed to the public. Local insurance agents will likewise be given the material, and will take an active part in making the clean-up campaigns successful.

Here is a real opportunity in which every town, no matter how small, can participate. Every citizen should co-operate. Clean-up week needn't be expensive. The combination of a little paint, plus plenty of elbow grease, will work wonders in many cases.

Soon To Dial Telephone Numbers

SOME re-education in the use of telephones will be necessary among Mansfielders during the next few weeks, as the dial system of calling numbers gets into operation.

The physical impossibility of making the complete changeover at one time will probably cause some confusion, because of difference in the manual and the dial numbers, but this is an inconvenience which it will be well to accept philosophically as a necessary part of a progressive step in telephone service.

Just as faulty enunciation has been responsible for occasional "wrong numbers" under the manual system, it is quite likely that careless dialing will cause similar annoyance hereafter—but this can be minimized by learning the dial method of operation and being careful to dial correctly.

For those who have not heretofore used a dial phone the novelty of the "gadget" will probably be sufficient to arouse their interest in learning how to operate it properly.

More Help for the Finns

AMERICANS are glad to see that $5,000,000 is being advanced by Washington to Finland, for food. It is badly needed. The Finns, normally self-contained, were nearly ruined economically by having to fight Russia last winter, and then having a large part of their best farming land, with its homes and other improvements, taken from them. They have been able to resettle their evicted farmers and provide homes for them, but were in danger of starving because they had so little chance to raise food last summer.

Added to the balance of their old debt, plus the $30,000,000 of credits extended to them during the Russian war, this makes nearly $40,000,000 that the Finns owe our government. But they have demonstrated that they are a good credit risk.

Meanwhile Uncle Sam is moved to make loans, or credits, to other small countries naturally congenial with us, to strengthen them against the slave powers.

How Hawk Routed Starlings

CITY DWELLERS east of the Mississippi who have been fussing about the huge flocks of starlings that roost by thousands on downtown buildings, may be interested to know what has routed the starlings in Hartford, Conn.

The birds had become such an annoyance that all sorts of ingenious devices were employed to rid the city of them. Nothing worked. Then a hawk appeared. This creature used modern air war technique. He dived at the starlings like a Stuka bomber. He also squawked in a terrifying way—at least terrifying to the starlings.

Although the solitary hawk could not kill or injure many of the birds, his constant attacks seemed to unnerve them. After a few days of vigorous pursuit by the hawk, the starlings disappeared almost to the last bird.

Clyde Moore, Ohio State Journal paragrapher, has noticed: "Another thing never included in the obituaries is reference to a man's ability as a poker player"—or that he was a highly respected former saloon keeper.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Some conversationalists are raconteurs and others are coon-shouters, and this applies to pianists as well. Mr. Dwight Fiske, to peg the classification to a personality, is by reputation the most gifted of New York's story-telling pianists, and Mr. Johnny Payne is to the small, intimate cafe piano what Sophie Tucker is to the Red Hot Mamas of vaudeville. He is a coon-shouter pure and simple.

In between come a pair of entertainers—Bob Lee and Hal Yates—who are distinctive because of their poetry (very free) and their refusal to indulge in between-the-lines smut. All have followings and all are doing well.

BOB LEE, in case you are at the Wevil restaurant any time soon, is the man at the piano. He is noted for his extemporaneous verse. You name it—he rhymes it. If you are having steak and yell "Bus Strike," he rhymes a verse for you at the piano about the bus strike in New York, on the spot.

He has rhymed more than 10,000 verses for those who take the trouble to recommend subjects.

Payne, a husky-throated keyboard banger, is at the Elysee Monkey bar and is altogether a barrel house pianist. His piano, an ancient upright, is on rockers, and as he bangs it rocks to and fro. He has a mirror suspended above his head which enables him to see and razz his audiences. Between numbers it is his habit to toss brandy glasses in a crashing cresendo against the wall. They always break.

It is Hal Yates, at the Lombardi Bar, who says you do not have to deal in dirt to get by—a rule that at least one noted Broadway producer, John Golden, has followed successfully for two decades. There was a time when pressure was put on Yates to form an orchestra under his own name, but he declined, saying too many good musicians wound up as poor band leaders. His piano playing is what he likes, and it feeds him well.

Dwight Fiske, who seldom is heard in any but the highest priced restaurants—usually at the Savoy Plaza or Fefe's Monte Carlo, hasn't changed much in style or material during recent years, but his popularity remains undiminished.

He is the sophisticate of New York's lone-wolf pianists. He is a good mugger, and he delights in telling risque stories at the piano that lunge up to, and sometimes completely oyer, the borderline. The Fiske fables usually have to do with the love life of penguins and swans, old stuff that he has used successfully for years.

BILLY ROSE, going nostalgic again (for the early movies this time) has fashioned an elaborate review around the old thrillers and heavy emoting films of 35 years ago. His gals form tableaus of scenes from the dim, departed silents, and then you see the films themselves.

Bet you a dime you don't know what your state flag looks like. We were looking at a color chart of the 48 state flags and were surprised to find that only Ohio, the Buckeye state, has a pennant, or forked-shaped flag. The other 47 have rectangular flags.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, March 29, 1921.

John Burroughs, 84, world-famous naturalist, died.

Rev. R. I. Champion, of Wichita, Kan., came to Mansfield to conduct series of evangelistic meetings.

J. M. Ottinger moved from 216 Dickson avenue to the Whipp farm, Lexington road.

Record for "floppers" was broken at police station when 26 men were given night's lodging.

Harold J. Smith of Shelby, took lease on dancing academy in King building, which was originally opened by the late Prof. J. A. Hawkins.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Endly returned from six-weeks visit in Florida.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, March 29, 1936.

Rev. G. E. Swoyer was named head of Mansfield Community Fund drive.

Permit was issued for remodeling of DeSoto hotel at an estimated cost of $3,000.

Announcement was made of marriage of Miss Dorothy Carroll and Edwin S. Winsper, solemnized March 28 at Central Methodist church.

Fifteen miles of county highway was affected by frost with damage estimated at $50,000.

Forty Richland county employes of state highway department began work on the 35-hour week schedule.

Strike Protests Deluge Congress

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—Strikes holding up national defense had become the toughest kind of problem before the mediation board was appointed, and the first publicity the board had did not help much toward convincing the public that a solution of the problem had been reached. This first publicity—ignoring the picture-taking, the appointment of the members and the formal organization—was that the board could take up only strike situations which had been certified to it, so to speak, by the department of labor.

Most of the senators and representatives on Capitol Hill who have been criticizing the policy of permitting strikes to interfere with national defense work have always distrusted Secretary of Labor Perkins. In fact, most of them regard her as little short of a Communist. So it was waving a red flag at a bull when the mediation board told the press it could handle strikes only AFTER they had been referred to it by the labor department.

This is made slightly milder by the fact that both congress and the corps of Washington newspapermen have a great deal of confidence in John R. Steelman, who is the chief mediator in the strike situations for the department of labor. If it becomes known that Steelman thinks any particular thing is all right, that carries a lot of weight.

BUT this modification scarcely affects the public. Hence it does not affect the mail pouring in on individual members of congress. The public is very definitely—if one may construe anything from this mail—convinced that the government has been fiddling while Rome burns on this whole business. The mail shows conclusively that there is very little sympathy for the stand labor has been taking.

This comes on top of several developments, which have paved the way for a less friendly audience for labor's side of the story. One is the pounding that Westbrook Pegler has been giving the labor racketeers and the union leaders for not doing something about it. The other is the widespread publicity given to the initiation fees charged laborers who wanted to work on some of the government cantonment contracts. When such a friend of labor and a hater of most capitalists as Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, takes the floor to warn labor, things have really been moving.

Norris is a very stubborn man, as he has proved on many an occasion, and he did not even weaken to that extent back in 1930 and 1931, when the Anti-Saloon league was slipping. So it might not be a bad idea for some of the labor leaders, aside entirely from the question of patriotism, to make a quick study of the situation with a view of finding out where they are leading the labor movement.

JUST what will happen is anybody's guess. But one thing is certain. If the delay to defense work continues, and the mediation board seems to the public either to be stalling or to be ineffective—which at the moment seems very likely—there will be such public clamor that congress, already boiling about the situation, will do something. It may not be the wise thing to do, in the long run, but whatever it happens to be is going to be very unpleasant.

Another point that labor leaders might consider is President Roosevelt's candid personal weighing of the situation. They might ask themselves whether the president will want to go down in history as a leader who permitted labor disturbances to cost millions of lives by dragging out a war years longer than necessary. Roosevelt wants to be the friend of labor, but the labor leaders are making it very hard for him.

Listen World!

What's the Rush!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

IT'S GETTING around spring house-cleaning time and the voice of the vacuum cleaner will shortly be heard in the land. So as one who has known nigh onto half a century of house-cleaning, I'm going to arise and deliver a sermon.

It won't be an eloquent sermon. But it will be as practical and poignant as a corn cure. It will answer a screeching need in every human soul who reads it. And it will be directed to every woman and to any man who has the chin to take it. The text is:

YOU DON'T HAVE TO DO IT ALL IN ONE DAY, SISTER!

If you've never been a real conscientious spring housecleaner, you may not get the slant of that. But if you're an average mortal who has to sleep in the garage and tries to chew on a spark plug while the Missus has every room in the house torn up at the same time, you'll understand that text pronto—and be both enthusiastic and grateful.

For it's the nature of the female sex—of which I am one—to want to do everything at one time. There is no particular reason why house-cleaning should be finished in a couple of days. There are at least 300 other days of the year when our hardest duty is to rub cold cream into our necks and wreck the neighbor's reputation. But, come the Ides of March, and we just can't wait.

With the first cackle of the bluebird a perfect frenzy seizes us. Forthwith the Howling Dervish has nothing on Friend Wife. It must all be done—and it must all be done at the same time. The whole family, to be sure, has been perfectly content with the good old grime for the past six months and is equally willing to wallow along with it for another month or so. But no! Off it must come! For Mama has her back up and, while she's at it, she's going to do a job.

Nor is this peculiar frenzy confined to house-keeping. Did you ever see one of Us Girls hit with a Reform Wave and decide forthwith to clean up everything in sight? Now there's Brother Ben and that lazy Aunt Eliza, to say nothing of those impudent young sprouts, Sister and Junior, nor to mention Dad whose sins are multiple. There they've gone on for years and years, accumulating mortal sin and multiple errors, with all the irritating consequences thereof.

Yet, somehow, they've gotten along. They've fallen in love, married and had babies. They've gotten jobs and managed to hold them. They haven't been locked up for drunkenness or disorderly conduct. At least not often. And practically everybody has been willing to take them at their face value.

But suddenly the Dear Little Woman decides that this has all been wrong. Her particular pain in the neck may not be a family problem but a Civic Situation. Anyhow, whatever it is, she's going to get busy and mop it up—right now! And ends by having everybody wishing they could commit "mass murder."

All of which, I humbly submit, is The Bunk, Girls. And is the main reason why we are, increasingly, The Avoided Sex. It's one thing to be good and earnest and anxious to Do Right By Your Soul, but you don't have to try and do it all in one day. It took that old house quite a lot of living to accumulate its coat of grime. Then why not take it off bit by bit, without blotting off family life during the purge.

It's also a fine thing to long to clean up the human race. But a lot of them don't want to be cleaned up. They like—in fact, they fairly dote on—their ruts and wallows. So why try to yank 'em out of it in one wild moral blitzkrieg? It's a nice thing for folks to be righteous, but give them time to be used to it. After all, most morality is an acquired habit. It takes a lot of time to like an olive. And maybe if you take a few breathing spells between offenses, Lady Love, you might find a few blemishes on yourself that need a bit of polishing. Hey, what?

Summary of Week's Happenings

Defense Strikes Disturb Nation, Mediation Board Starts to Act

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

CIO workers at Bethelehem Steel's plants, sprawled for five miles along the Lehigh river at Bethlehem, Pa., have complained for years that the Employes' Representation Plan is a "company union."

The NLRB ordered the company to disestablish ERP; the company appealed; ERP continued to function.

ERP scheduled an election for last Monday to choose representatives for bargaining collectively with the management. Leaders of CIO's Steel Workers Organizing Committee (SWOC)—both it and ERP claim most of 18,000 workers—professed indignation. They said the NLRB order made any ERP balloting "illegal" and promised, "There will be a strike the minute they bring out their ballot boxes."

Monday came. After several hours passed, CIO officials announced they had been unable to locate any voting. Then late in the day they called a strike abruptly. Hundreds of workers left their jobs. ERP said voting would continue.

By Tuesday thousands of CIO pickets and sympathizers were milling about company gates. They clashed with police. State troopers arrived and drove pickets from the gates. By Wednesday "peaceful picketing" was allowed and yesterday a setlement agreement was announced.

Allis Chalmers Told To Open.

Under the Selective Service Act the government has power to take over an industrial plant under certain conditions.

Probably the most persistent large labor dispute affecting defense orders has been at the Allis Chalmers plant in Milwaukee. In a bold move, OPM Director Knudsen and Secretary of the Navy Knox sent telegrams to company officials and to CIO United Auto Workers Union ordering them to resume work on Navy orders. The telegram said that the strike—now in its 10th week—was vitally affecting the delivery of navy orders. It added:

"We can no longer wait for a settlement of the strike by ordinary means. We must ask you to notify your entire force to report for work and start operations immediately. . . . Negotiations can be continued while all men are at work."

A company official indicated that the plant would be reopened. Labor leaders said the question had to be put to a vote of the workers.

Ford Eases Tension.

A Michigan law requires that unions contemplating a strike against a company engaged in filling defense orders must give 30 days notice. It was a month ago that CIO United Auto Workers union filed its notice of 'intent to strike" at three Ford plants in the Detroit area which employ nearly 100,000 men. The company has $154,000,000 worth of defense contracts.

As the month's end approached the federal labor conciliator, James Dewey, announced the management had made three moves which had eased tension:

1. He said the company reinstated "most" of 1,000 Rouge plant workers dismissed during the past seven months. (The union says they were discharged for union activity, the company say the layoffs were seasonal.)

2. The company promised, he said, that production was at a level which made it 'unlikely that any further layoffs will occur."

3 Harry Bennett, Ford's fiery personnel director, had consented "to work out any problem with me that warrants my attention," Dewey said.

Meanwhile the NLRB's regional office in Detroit issued a formal complaint of unfair labor practices against the company.

The jurisdictional strike at Wright Field was halted after an appeal from the war department.

Dykstra's Appeal.

In Chicago the McCormick Works of the International Harvester company re-opened the plant despite a strike by CIO workers.

As the new National Defense Mediation Board held its first meetings, Chairman Dykstra said:

"We shall endeavor to be impartial, completely honest and thoroughly non-political. We shall give out our findings as we see them. We shall thus try to appeal to the sound sense and the good will of all true Americans."

Timely Editorial

Wining and Dining Draftees.

The draftee is given a paper telling him to show up for induction "clean and sober." It is a serious thing he is getting into; it ought to be entered with the eyes open.

As to cleanliness, one might as well fall at once into the army way of tidiness. Some of the boys have been shoving up here from outstate points a little the worse for being wined and dined—principally wined—before getting on the bus. The physicians who must pass them into the service complain that they are in no shape to be examined.

The people who stand drinks for the young soldiers are described as civic, patriotic and veterans groups, that come loosely under the head of well-wishers. Also, they are probably people who are looking about for an excuse to hoist a few themselves. This is often the case. The ancient ceremony of speeding the departing brother is kept alive only partly for reasons of good will.

If it were solely a matter of consulting the young soldier's welfare, the cash put into a blowoff that delivers him to the army in no shape to face the doctors would be translated into a watch or something he can use in a cantonment at arms.—Detroit News.

TODAY IN HISTORY

John Tyler was born in Charles City County, Va., on March 29, 1790. Elected Vice President of the United States in 1840, he became tenth president on the death of William Henry Harrison in 1841. He died in Richmond, Va., on January 17, 1862.

In Short

Approved Unanimously: A bill to use government loans to raise prices of cotton, wheat and corn to "full parity," by the senate agriculture committee.

Rejected Unanimously: The resignation of Chairman Joseph Martin, jr., by the Republican national committee. He agreed to continue with the understanding that he would name a salaried assistant. He is also house Republican leader.

Arrested: Four men in Newark, N. J., by the treasury department secret service in a move which it said resulted in the "smashing of a conspiracy to counterfeit $1,000,000 worth of 25-cent government food stamps."

Abroad

Agree and Disagree.

In a stiff-faced ceremony at Vienna's Belvedere Palace (where Hungary and Bulgaria, also signed), Premier Cvetkovic of Yugoslavia linked his nation with the Axis on Tuesday.

On Wednesday the British quoted Germany's radio as saying Germans would march in "if movements of revolt become a nuisance."

Thursday morning 17-year-old King Peter II and General Dusan Simovic took over the government after a wild night of rioting. Regent Prince Paul was in flight to Greece and Premier Cvetkovic and his cabinet were arrested.

King Peter asked Simovic to form a new cabinet.

Yesterday the new government bluntly refused to ratify the Axis pact and more than a million Yugoslav troops were being rushed to battle stations.

Giarabub and Graziani.

Last hold-out of the Italians in eastern Libya was the oasis of Giarabub, a cluster of sun-baked huts around the ornate mosque of the Senussi Moslem sect.

The British besieged it for 15 weeks without firing a cannon for fear of damaging the mosque and angering the fanatical natives. Then they stormed in.

With Giarabub fell Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, governor of Libya and commander of Italy's North African army. He resigned; was replaced by General Italo Gariboldi.

Elsewhere in Libya the British even acknowledged that a "small enemy detachment" occupied El Agheila, 150 miles southwest of Bengasi. Berlin said the detachment was German.

The British ploughed on through Italian East Africa, aiming at Addis Ababa, which they hoped to knock over before spring rains come.

People

France's Bread-Eaters.

In their 1940 ration cards the French—heavy bread eaters—were allowed 400 grams a day. That was later cut to 300 and even further. During the week Vichy officials announced that the people's bread ration will be reduced from 300 to 240 grams (8.5 ounces) in France's occupied zone and that it will be kept at 240 in the unoccupied zone. Their meat will be cut 20% to a little more than an ounce per person per day.

Meanwhile the U. S. officially announced it would send $1,000,000 worth of flour to unoccupied France as a gift. Its distribution will be supervised by the American Red Cross.

Soldiers and Girls.

The Federal Security Agency is planning a nation-wide advertising campaign on the theme "Take a soldier boy home to dinner." The campaign will seek to break down "the customary attitude of teaching young people not to have anything to do with soldiers."

The Army, Navy and Public Health Service have decided to attempt to suppress prostitution in the vicinity of army and navy establishments. Charles P. Taft, associate defense director of welfare, announced. He said the problem is not serious and that "segregated areas are out so far as the federal government is concerned."

ILLNESS FATAL

John J. Dunn, 78, Dies at Home of Son; Rites Monday.

A lingering illness ended this morning in the death of John Joseph Dunn, 78, at the home of his son, James J. Dunn, 50 Rowland avenue.

The husband of the late Elizabeth Ann Dunn, he was born in Oldham, England, April 29, 1862. Mr. Dunn came to this country at the age of 20, residing at Lowell, Mass. He had lived in Mansfield for the past 11 years. He was affiliated with the Methodist church.

Survivors are five sons, Edward J., William E., and John Dunn, all of California; Fred J., of Des Moines, Iowa; and James J. of this city; three daughters, Mrs. J. Howard Geaney, of Los Angeles; Alice M. Dunn, of New York City; Mrs. Emma E. Forgeron, of South Pasadena, Calif., 12 grand children and two great grandchildren.

The body was removed to the Finefrock funeral home where private services will be held Monday at 10:30 a. m. Rev. R. L. Foulke, pastor of the Central Methodist church, will officiate. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

DRIVER FINED

BUCYRUS—Arrested by state highway patrol, Howard Williams of Bucyrus pleaded guilty to a charge of driving an automobile without proper license and was fined $25 and costs in the court of Mayor William F. Whiteamire, Friday. Plates on the car were found to have been issued for another car.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, March 30.

SUNDAY'S horoscope is a very promising one, not only for "cashing in" on past performances, with industry, diligence, and fidelity to duty and obligations finding suitable and enduring rewards, but new factors may arise to open gateways of achievement, progress and perhaps startling recognition.

Those whose birthday it is are assured of a year of opportunity for putting on an enduring basis the fortunes and security of the future, owing to recognition of past labors and steadfastness as well as because of the sudden advent of fresh openings probably born on some novel ideas or innovations of a scientific nature.

A child born on this day will be exceptionally clever, versatile, inventive with far scope of vision and much ingenuity.

For Monday, March 31.

Monday's astrological forecast should be an exceptionally propitious one for the sudden advent of opportunities for reaching the goals of high ambitions. This may arise with breathtaking force and cause a sort of revolution in the plans and objectives, with possibly new environs, associates and interests. Those in high places will be readily co-operative.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the threshold of a particularly enterprising, progressive, and productive year, with sudden fresh opportunity for placing the future and its destiny on a firm and enduring basis. Surprising openings inciting to radical change, new surroundings and interests, with the substantial assistance of those in power and financial standing.

A child born on this day should be splendidly equipped for a progressive, substantial and worthy career.

ELECTRIC RATE CUT HITS SNAG

Council Committee Fails To Meet Again; Two Members Differ on Views.

Porch said today that he believed there would be no hitch in the speedy adoption of the ordinance regardless of whether the committee makes a recommendation. He said he could see no need for referring the matter to committee and pointed out that the company had asked for assurance of the passage in sufficient time to establish the new lower rates by July 1.

Croak said he did not believe that the ordinance would get its first reading Tuesday night. He said that the utilities committee had not met and he believed council would refer the matter to the committee.

Meanwhile, City Solicitor Marion D. Ward, jr., went ahead with the drafting of an ordinance incorporating the offer of the company.

The new electric rates would save more than 12,000 consumers in the Mansfield area about $70,000 annually, or $350,000 in the proposed five-year contract.

If council should refer the ordinance to the utilities committee, it could still be passed quickly by a series of special meetings. Ward informed Porch and Mayor William J. Locke that there is no special interval required between council meetings.

BUCYRUS — Fire believed to have started from a lighted cigaret damaged the Wisman building on South Sandusky street about 2 a. m. today.

The blaze, which broke out in the Black roller skating rink on the second floor was discovered by the building owner, Charles Wisman, who was awakened in his third floor apartment by smoke.

Damage was estimated at $200. Quickly brought under control by firemen water damaged stock of the Cussin and Fearn hardware store on the ground level.

Six presidents of the United States are buried in Virginia, five in New York, and four in Ohio.

GARDEN CLUBS HOLD INITIAL MEETINGS

Mrs. Carl Gibson Elected President of Johnny Appleseed Garden Club; Other Groups Meet for Varied Programs.

BURSTING with activity and keen anticipation for the coming season many of the garden clubs throughout the city held their initial meeting Friday. Election of officers took place at the session of the Johnny Appleseed Garden club with Mrs. Carl Gibson chosen to head the group. Assisting her will be Mrs. Charles Siegenthaler, vice president; Mrs. J. T. Lusignan, jr., recording secretary; Mrs. Walter Stevens, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Donald Black, treasurer.

Mrs. George Searle, 81 Sturges avenue, welcomed the members to her home at 11 a. m. The program consisted of two papers, one given by Mrs. Tom Ford, who spoke on "Vegetable Gardens," and the other on "War Gardens" by Mrs. L. J. Ott. The latter topic dealt with instructions and tips on what to do in case of emergency in growing and caring for gardens in time of war. Later luncheon was served to 21 from a table attractively decorated with two unusual arrangements made by Miss Katherine Hartman. The next meeting of the club is scheduled for April 18 at the home of Mrs. A. W. Meihack, Park avenue west road.

Guest Speaker.

Miss Isabel Barry of Cleveland, lighting specialist, was a guest speaker at the meeting of the Astowela Garden club which was held at the Women's Club at 11 a. m. She chose as her subject "Landscaping With Light," which was a most interesting talk on the illumination of gardens. Complementing her delightful address were colored pictures of many beautiful gardens.

Mrs. D. C. Lavender and Mrs. W. L. Birch were hostesses for the meeting when 22 members and one guest, Mrs. D. W. Peppard, were in attendance. Mrs. C. V. McConnell conducted the business meeting at which time various committees were appointed. When luncheon was served Mrs. Peppard and Mrs. McConnell presided. An attractive centerpiece of calla lilies decorated the service table. On April 18 Mrs. Paul McConnell, 472 Edgewood road, will be hostess at her home, assisted by Mrs. W. G. Black.

Initial Meeting.

Mrs. Burton Preston, 550 Woodland road, opened her home yesterday to members of the Mansfield Garden club for their first meeting of the season. She was assisted by Mrs. Paul Sturges in entertaining the 25 in attendance. The group convened at 11 a.m. for a brief session in charge of the vice president, Mrs. Ephraim Brown. Mrs. Frederick Crouse reported on the recently organized Garden Center which has been established at the Public library. Mrs. Leo Perl was the speaker for the day, using as her topic, "New Annuals." Mrs. Fred Wolf gave an interesting report on the recent Cleveland Flower show. Later luncheon was served from a table dainty with an arrangement of yellow jonquils, pink sweetpeas and lavender iris. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. John Hattery presided at the table. On April 18 Mrs. Stanley Schiller and Mrs. Fred Herring will be hostesses at the Women's Club.

Town and Country Club.

Twenty members of the Town and Country Garden club met at the home of Mrs. Samuel Orr, 510 Townview Circle Friday afternoon for a program of unusual interest. A flower and garden quiz prepared by Mrs. E. K. Clark held the attention of the group and was conducted by Mrs. Orr. Plant prizes for the quiz will be awarded at the next meeting. Two new members, Mrs. R. L. Henry and Mrs. Lloyd Shawber, were welcomed. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock from a table centered with a mixed bouquet of spring flowers. Mrs. Eugene Smart presided. On April 10 Mrs. H. C. Little, 214 Vennum avenue, will be hostess to the club.

Prepare Scrap Books.

At the first meeting this year of the Buckeye Garden club the members began their individual scrap books of garden and flower activity. Fourteen members met Friday morning at the home of Mrs. Jack Berno, 441 Davis road. Luncheon was served with Miss Lucille Kearns presiding. Spring flowers formed a pretty centerpiece for the serving table. The group will meet on April 11 at the home of Mrs. Howard Peck, 577 Brae Burn road.

Mrs. D. P. Smith Named Head of Cosmopolitans

Mrs. D. P. Smith was elected president of the Cosmopolitan club yesterday afternoon during a meeting at the home of Mrs. D. G. Roth on Andover road. Other officers named were Mrs. V. H. Lodde, vice president; Mrs. G. E. Holland, secretary; and Mrs. Roth, treasurer.

During the program, Mrs. F. A. Hoffman spoke on "Contemporary American Humorists," and Mrs. J. F. Daley told of "Things To See In Mexico." Current event were reviewed by Mrs. Holland, and a social hour followed The next club meeting will be held at the Women's Club on Thursday, April 14, with Mrs. J. B. Conard as the hostess.

New Garden Club Organized At R. K. Clark Home

A new garden group, the Garden Study club, held its first meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. K. Clark, Beechwood drive. Mrs. Charles Birch was chosen to head the organization for the coming year.

Other officers elected were Mrs. L. E. Strain, vice president; Mrs. R. R. Martin, secretary; Mrs. R. K. Clark, treasurer. Mrs. D. E. Patterson, Mrs. O. H. McDaniels and Mrs. A. J. Barker comprise the council of gardeners.

"Planning and Planting the First Garden" was the topic discussed by Mrs. Martin. Mrs. McDaniels told of the recent flower show in Cleveland and Mrs. Strain reported on the rose show held a few weeks ago in Columbus. Closing the program was a garden quiz for all the members.

The next meeting will be held April 25 at the home of Miss Mary Bevan, 298 Vennum avenue. There will be a plant exchange at this session.

Capt. Stephenson Class Meets At Church Parlors

Members of the Captain Stephenson class of the First Presbyterian church had their regular monthly meeting yesterday evening in the church parlors. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rice were the program chairmen. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. William Linton and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. McClure served on their committee.

During the program, Don McLaughlin sang four vocal selections, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Elsie Ireland. Moving pictures then were shown. Green predominated in the color scheme when luncheon was served at a late hour.

The next meeting of the class has been scheduled for April 18 at the church parlors. Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hoover will head the program committee at that time.

Schedule of Events

District Meeting to Be Held Here April 5

Members of the Past Councilors association met yesterday afternoon at the Eagle hall with Mrs. Mary Smith in charge of the business. Plans were made for a district past councilors meeting to be held on April 5 at the Eagle hall. This will be an afternoon meeting with dinner following and out-of-town members will attend from Bucyrus, Galion, Ashland, Marion and Shelby.

Cards were played yesterday during the social hour and dinner was served at 6 o'clock by Mrs. Hazel Strickler and her committee. The next regular meeting will be held at the hall on April 25.

Married Tuesday Evening

Mrs. George Warner, jr., above, was Miss Mary Anne Huck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Huck, 197 South Mulberry street, before her marriage Tuesday evening at St. Paul's Lutheran church. She and her husband, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Warner, sr., R. D. 1, Lexington, are at home to friends at 14½ West Chestnut street.

Stoops-Rebman Vows Exchanged

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Edna Stoops, daughter of Mrs. Lora Stoops, and Charles Stoops of Mansfield to Vaughn Rebman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rebman of Lucas. The wedding was solemnized Sept. 20, 1940, before the altar of the Bethany Evangelical Lutheran church. Rev. V. M. Selle officiated for the service which was unattended.

The bride was graduated from the Mansfield Senior high school and has been employed at the Westinghouse. Mr. Rebman, who is employed at a hardware store in Lucas, was graduated from Lucas school. They will make their home at 45 Rowland avenue.

Miss Courtney Gives History of Division

There were 12 members present for a meeting of Division Two of the United Presbyterian church Friday evening at the church. Mrs. Margaret Roof led the devotions, and Mrs. J. W. Waddell conducted the business.

Miss Katherine Courtney gave a history of the progress of the organization during the past year. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Howard McClure and Mrs. W. W. Crouch. The next meeting will be held at the church, with the date to be announced later.

Round Table Discussion Held at Poetry Guild

Round table discussion on poetry, markets and publishing was held Friday evening when members of the Poetry guild were entertained at the home of Mrs. Verda Barr, South Main street. Later in the program original peoms were given by Misses Mary Ellen Bechtel, Maude Miller, Mae Wilkinson and Mae Myers. Mrs. Helen Linham favored with a poem entitled "The Patchwork Quilt" and Miss Miller, in a descriptive manner, told of the life of Robert Frost.

At the close of the program a luncheon was served with appointments in pink and white. The next meeting will be held April 18 at the home of Miss Miller, West Second street. Mrs. Linham will be the speaker, using as her topic, "Past and Present Inaugurations."

Lady Garfield Group Meets at Eagles Hall

Members of the Lady Garfield council, Daughters of America, met last evening at the Eagle hall, with Mrs. Sarah Case in charge. Plans were formulated for a rummage sale to be held April 17, 18, and 19, with the place to be announced later.

The council charter was draped for the late Mrs. Catherine Henry. The next regular meeting will be at the hall on April 3, while the degree team and officers will meet on that day with Mrs. Mary Hill, 112 Hedges street.

Miss Stahlheber Chooses Easter Day for Wedding

Easter Sunday was chosen by Miss Margaret Stahlheber for her marriage to Arthur Baumberger, according to announcement made Friday evening when Mrs. Russell Gray, 481 Forest avenue, entertained in her honor. The bride-elect, daughter of Mrs. Anna Stahlheber, 39 Small avenue, and Mr. Baumberger, son of Frank Baumberger, Olivesburg road, will exchange nuptial vows at 8 o'clock in the morning at the home of the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Paul Seifert, Lexington-Springmill road.

Complimenting her niece, Mrs. Gray presented her with an electrical gift and the guests gave her a shower of linen articles. Each guest was given a dainty corsage fashioned from a colored linen handkerchief.

The evening was spent in hemming towels and in making a bride's book. Later luncheon was served at small tables centered with tall yellow tapers and other appointments in yellow, green and white.

Other parties are being planned in honor of Miss Stahlheber.

L'Etude Club Has Clever Easter Party

Mrs. Howard Frey, Connor drive, was hostess to members of the L'Etude club Thursday evening at her home. A business session was conducted by Mrs. Richard Uhl and Mrs. John Grohol, at which time plans were made to give Easter dinners to two needy families. During the program period Mrs. Frey gave short selected subjects from the works of Harlan Miller.

When the guests arrived they were given their choice of new Easter bonnets, made cleverly from crepe paper and lacy doilies. Contests were a diversion of the social hour with prizes presented to Mrs. Harry Porter and Mrs. Grohol. One guest, Miss Kathleeen Stiet of Upper Sandusky, was present.

A luncheon was served at the close of the evening with the small tables decorated in a dainty manner with appointments of yellow, purple and green.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Grohol, South Diamond street, April 10.

April Fool Party Held By Pythian Sisters

An April Fool party was an event of yesterday evening for members of the Pythian Sisters at the home of Mrs. Pettie Schrack, 88 Helen avenue. Mrs. Adeline Underwood and Miss Vivian Aplin were the associate hostesses.

During the evening, Mrs. Nellie Aplin was presented with a life membership in the lodge. She also received a pin from Mrs. Jeannette Bell of Lakewood, grand mistress of records and correspondence of Ohio, and flowers from the district deputy, Mrs. Bertha Schellengarger of Huron.

Games were played and prizes awarded, and at a late hour refreshments were served. The next regular meeting will be held at the K. of P. hall on April 11, and on April 25 the members are planning to attend a lodge meeting in Wooster.

THIRTY-EIGHT ATTEND ART STUDY CLUB MEET

Members Hold One of the Largest Meetings of the Year at Susie Janis Home With Mrs. Carl Spangler As Speaker.

ART STUDY CLUB members held their biggest meeting of the year Friday afternoon at the Susie Janis home, Park avenue west road. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. William Keefe, Mrs. Joseph Tomlin and Mrs. H. J. Paulsen, who welcomed 35 members and three guests, Mrs. Warren Fort of Mansfield, Mrs. Hugh Brown of Crestline and Mrs. Latham Osborne of Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Carl Spangler spoke to the group on "Old Clocks," giving a comprehensive resume of timekeeping, since its beginning hundreds of years ago. She first told of the early sun dials which were for years the only means of telling the time.

"The advancement of clocks," explained Mrs. Spangler, "came principally from this country, with the present day timekeeper being definitely a product of America."

She also told of the slight difference in general mechanism which has taken place in the last 200 years.

At the close of the program refreshments were served at a table charming with its color scheme of pastel shades. Easter appointments were used effectively with attractively decorated eggs forming a centerpiece. As favors to the guests individual corsages in the pastel colors were presented to each one. Mrs. Fort and Mrs. Brown poured.

The next meeting will be held at the First Congregational church April 4 at which time Mrs. Harry Buchan, Mrs. Kenneth Buhr and Miss Florence Robison will be hostesses. Mrs. D. N. Roller will furnish the program, speaking on "Bells," and showing her extensive collection.

HAVE LUNCHEON.

When members of the O. H. O. club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. George Brooker, 32 Prospect street, they were entertained with a 1 o'clock luncheon. The table was centered with a bouquet of spring flowers. Following the business, which was in charge of Mrs. D. B. Wolfgang, contests were played, and prizes awarded to Mrs. Sherman Stone, Mrs. L. Armstrong, Mrs. L. Lutz and Mrs. A. Cook. On April 16, the group will meet with Mrs. Frank Brannon, West Fifth street.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"YOU KNOW Lillian doesn't expect you until tomorrow," Dicky went on, driving home his point. "And by the time you get into the city, Miss Whitlock will have put her to sleep—effectually—or I miss my guess. She's too competent a nurse not to keep her patient under as much as she dares, so that Lil won't have so many hours of waking hell."

I nodded an automatic assent to his words, which I knew were true, but an involuntary protest rose to my lips, so strongly had I been set on going to Lillian the moment I had finished talking to Mary.

"But—" I began, "I ought—"

"Ought—hell!" my husband exploded. "Suppose you forget that word for a few hours. And you know as well as I do that what you really ought to do is to get a room at the Lansfield, and tumble into bed as soon as you've seen Mary. Then, in the morning, after a good night's sleep, you'll be in shape to go to Lil and do her some good. And—you don't need to tell her that you stayed in the city."

"More falsehoods," I sighed, and Dicky, whose movements could not be seen by anyone outside the booth, put out his hand, grasped my shoulder, and gave it an exasperated little shake.

"If you let that Puritan conscience of yours out of its kennel again tonight," he threatened, "I'll tie a can fo its tail, and lock you up. Don't you know that 'a lie is an ever-present help in time of trouble,' and that 'it is better to lie a little than to suffer—much?' What do you want to do, get Lil all het up because you didn't fly to her the minute you got through with Mary?"

"But where—what excuse?" I faltered, and Dicky grinned widely at me.

"Behold the worthiest successor to Ananias ever known," he said, tapping his chest with a boastful forefinger. "You go ahead and telephone Mary, and by the time you've finished, me—I'll have yards and yards of excuses all ready to stitch up."

"That will be enough for this evening," he said, as he backed out of the booth. "Better get busy with Mary."

I closed the booth door, took down the receiver, and received such unusually swift service that I heard Mary's voice before I had finished planning what I wanted to say to her.

"Auntie Madge!" she caroled—I had given my name to the hotel operator—"how perfectly marvelous to hear your voice. Where are you?"

I told her, and heard the quick, involuntary catch of her breath.

"Oh! There's nothing wrong with the boys, is there?" she quavered.

I understood her reaction, for the town from which we were telephoning was directly on the road to the city in which was located the school her brothers, Bill and Hank, were attending.

"No, no," I said. 'Everybody is well, But something has come up which makes it necessary that I see you as soon as possible. I am taking a train from here at eight o'clock and arrive in New York about midnight. Will it be possible for me to see you then if I come directly to the hotel? And—could you reserve a room and bath for me there tonight?"

It was the fraction of a second, before she replied, but short as the pause was, it "gave me time to think," Mary is usually so enthusiastic over my frequent visits to her—I have not seen her, except at the theater, but twice since her marriage—so voluble in her apparent delight at seeing me, that I wondered what her hesitation meant.

But when she answered me, in the same enthusiastic fashion which I associate with her, I heard a little bell ring deep in my consciousness.

"Oh! How glad I shall be to see you, darling," she said, "and I'll reserve the room for you right away. But—I'm having a little supper party tonight in our rooms, right after the play. Will you want to talk to me before supper or can it wait until afterward? Of course you're coming to supper."

CHAPTER XII

There was pity in Paul Sherman's brown eyes but Joan did not see it. As light as a feather, she danced in his arms. Over her head Paul's serious face belied his gay attempt at bantering conversation.

"You have the cutest turned-up nose," he informed her. "But it doesn't suit the rest of you."

"That's a dubious compliment," Joan smiled.

"Your nose gives you away for just what you are, a cute kid!" Paul laughed and so did she. Cute kid! Karl called her beautiful, glamorous, exciting — Paul Sherman thought she was just a cute kid. It proved how much more sophisticated Karl was. Yet if she had never met Karl she would have been fond of Paul. He was young, good-looking and intelligent. Karl, however, had so much more to offer. He had lived. He was experienced. There was a mystery about him that set him apart from all others. There was even a subtle fascination about his guttural accent. Karl represented power and strength. Karl . . .

"I'm still here," Paul reminded her, breaking into her dream.

"Sorry," Joan admitted. "I'd almost forgotten."

The orchestra filled out for an intermission.

"I think I'll go back to the office," Joan said. "Karl said he'd send for me in ten minutes and it's been much longer than that. Eric Strom is there."

"Eric Strom!"

"That's right. And Karl didn't seem too pleased about it."

"I wouldn't advise you to go back then," Paul said, frowning.

"I'm worried," she confessed, "about Karl."

"Karl can take care of himself," Paul said, lighting a cigaret.

But Joan felt drawn by a sudden inner compulsion. "I'm going anyway," she told Paul. He made a step as to detain her, then apparently reversing his decision, walked to the bar and ordered a drink.

* * *

Joan hurried down the long corridor exactly as she had done so many times before. But fear hastened her footsteps, fear for Karl. She did not trust Eric Strom. She had been alarmed by his expression.

"If anything happens to Karl . . ." she thought.

As she reached the door she heard the two men arguing violently. Then there was a shot followed by a crash.

"Karl!" Joan screamed, flinging open the door.

But it was Eric Strom who lay on the floor. There was a gun beside his hand.

Her eyes sought Karl's fearfully. "He killed himself?" she faltered.

Karl shut the door. "Pick up that gun!" he commended.

Shuddering, Joan obeyed, placing it upon the desk.

"Karl!" She ran to him, seizing his arm, staring into his face, which had no glint of emotion in it. "Darling, you didn't kill him?"

Her green eyes were pleading from a chalk-white face. "Karl! Karl! Answer me! You didn't . . . You couldn't . . . Why that would be . . . Murder!"

Karl Miller smiled grimly as he took a cigaret from the silver box on his desk. "Some people might call it that," he said without a trace of excitement.

Joan leaned weakly against the desk. She was beyond fear, beyond tears. There was a terrible silence in the office, a heavy dreadful silence. A silence intensified by Karl Miller's face, narrowed eyes, hard mouth. A silence made more tense by the stillness of Eric Strom's body upon the floor. Joan's mind slowly tried to put together the pieces of this horrible picture. Karl had shot Eric—killed him. Beyond that she knew nothing.

Her hand reached for the telephone. "I'm going to call the police!"

Karl seized her arm with a violence that almost jerked it from its socket. "You will do nothing of the kind!"

She stared at him. Was this the Karl Miller she knew? Was this hard-faced man the one who had held her tenderly and murmured "Liebchen"?

Someone was pounding at the office door. Karl had locked it. Paul Sherman's voice came distinctly through the opaque glass panel. "Joan! What's going on in there? Let me in!"

Karl walked to the door and opened it. "There has been an unfortunate accident," he said calmly.

Paul's expression did not change. "What happened?"

Karl Miller smiled a little as he regarded his white-faced manager.

"Joan was perfectly justified. Eric has tried to annoy her before. You can testify to that yourself."

"Just what are you driving at?" Paul demanded.

Joan tried to speak but her lips would not move. What was Karl saying? What did he mean?

"Joan shot Eric," Karl Miller stated.

His words were like an electric shock. "I didn't! Karl, you know I didn't! You did it yourself! You shot him!"

She ran to Paul and clutched his arm. "Paul, you believe me, don't you?"

Paul Sherman did not answer. He did not even look at her.

"Your fingerprints are on the gun," Karl said.

"But you told me to pick it up." She could not believe her ears. Karl, the man she loved and trusted, had turned against her, accusing her of a murder he had committed. It was like some fantastic nightmare.

"I have no wish to turn you over to the police, Joan. We will forget about this little matter. No one need know what has happened."

Rage blazed in her green eyes. "But I haven't done anything. I'm not afraid to go to the police! And I'm going to tell them the whole story."

She was not speaking to the Karl Miller she had loved. This man was a stranger.

"You will not go to the police!" His voice cut like a whip.

Paul Sherman stared straight ahead of him, seeming to see or hear nothing.

"I will!" Joan cried hysterically, turning towards the door.

Karl's powerful arm stopped her and forced her roughly into a chair. "There are two reasons why you will not. The first—if you do I will testify that you shot Eric, and Paul will back me up."

Her pleading eyes turned to Paul. He would not fail her.

But he said coolly, "I'm afraid that's right."

"But you can't! It isn't true! Karl, why are you doing this? Paul! Help me! I don't understand!"

"Eric," Karl went on, "tried to double-cross me. You may observe for yourself what has happened to him. That is the second reason that you will do nothing."

Joan clutched the arms of her chair for support. She compressed her lips in a desperate attempt to control her emotions.

Karl Miller advanced towards her. "And if you double-cross me, you know what to expect. Now do you understand?"

"You wouldn't dare!" Joan said but the sightless eyes of Eric Strom were silent testimony.

She covered her face with her hands and wept.

It couldn't be true. That wasn't Karl, her Karl! He must be driven by desperation to turn against her. It was some horrible mistake. In a moment it would be over. He would explain everything and hold her in his arms again.

But Karl was saying, "You know nothing! You will tell no one what has occurred here tonight. We will go on as if nothing has happened."

She wanted to laugh wildly, hysterically, "Go on as if nothing had happened"?

Karl wrapped the pistol in a handkerchief, put it in the safe, then motioned to Paul. "Give me a hand." Together they carried the lifeless Eric Strom from the office. Joan could hear them descending the fire escape, outside the back of the building. What would they do with Eric? The noise from the orchestra must have prevented the sound of that shot from disturbing the guests at the Club Elite.

Joan stared at the telephone. She was alone. It would be easy to call the police—but she was afraid. She was afraid of the look in Karl Miller's eyes. There had been ruthless determination in those eyes. And in the safe lay the gun that had killed Eric. A gun bearing her fingerprints. Paul had said he would testify in support of Karl. What chance would Joan Leland have? The evidence was conclusively against her. What was behind this murder? Why Karl's attitude, Paul's sudden change of front?

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

REVISE THE OLD RULE

A good revision of the old Whist rule to "cover an honor with an honor" was once put forth by the veteran genius of auction bridge, Wilbur C. Whitehead. He made it read: "Cover an honor with an honor whenever doing so promises to build a trick in your own hand or your partner's." Failure to do this can cost your side plenty of tricks, just as covering an honor blindly, when the rule does not fit, can prove expensive and wasteful.

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	2 NT
Pass	4 NT	Pass	6 NT

South was shooting for a top in a duplicate game, so sought to reach some contract different from those at other tables. That is why he opened with 2-No Trumps instead of the more orthodox diamonds. Reckoning a mighty hand opposite him, North properly counted his hand as relatively strong, too, so gently hinted at slam with his jump. South probably should have dropped this, or else mildly hinted at acceptance of the slam invitation by bidding 5-No Trumps, which North would have dropped, but he went all the way to small slam, in line with the terrible lead of the spade

Part of South's optimism was due to the weak pair against him. It proved justified, for West began with the terrible lead of the spade 5, though almost anything else would have been better to open than that. The dummy's 6 won this. Followed two club tops, the heart K, three more clubs for spade discards—still shooting play—and then the diamond J. East ducked, and the J won. Then the 6 was led to the Q, and the diamond A dropped the K. Two more diamonds and the heart A took the rest of the tricks.

If East, following Whitehead's rule, had covered the diamond J with his K, in the hope of building up a 10 for West, he would have accomplished just that and would have stopped the run of the suit. South then could not possibly have taken over ten tricks, and would have been set two.

* * *

Your Week-End Lesson.

In planning the play for your contract, before putting a card on the first trick, what is the principal difference in your method between suit contracts and No Trump ones?

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

I suppose I ought to warn the good folk of Marion that the Royal Crown Colas and Grange Street Cafes will be in their midst tonight and tomorrow for a bit of women's Inter-City tourney kegling.

But the Marions asked for it when they decided to put on the joust, and they will get it, and I doubt if a warning at this late date would do them much good.

Unless all the chatter I've been hearing the past few weeks is just so much small talk, the gals will not confine their fun to the alleys.

Really, my fair, feminine friends, while it won't take all your time to collect your quota of pins, you DON'T HAVE to spend the rest of your time giving Marion the needle.

The gals asked me to go along with 'em, and I suppose I'd be safe enough among that many, but fortunately tonight is my night to work until the wee small hours.

When they heard that, some of 'em even threatened to kidnap me.

(Aw, you're not that good, chum.)

Who said that?

* * *

I did turn down one invitation for tonight that I wish I could have accepted.

That was a bid to the dinner of Westinghouse bowling leagues, which includes 48 teams.

But Saturday night is one night I just can't get away. So don't nobody invite me to do nothin' on Saturday. I'll be doing that in large chunks anyhow.

* * *

The keglers seem to be right down my alley today so I'd better stay in the groove and keep rolling.

Busiest Mansfielder out of town Sunday will be Art Hilborn, owner of the season's only 300 in these parts.

Art will be a "walking delegate" for Mansfield Moose lodge 341 at Dearborn, Mich., most of the day, trying to sell Mansfield for the 1942 national Moose bowling tournament.

At 7:30 Sunday night he'll be at Van Wert rolling with the Bissman Birdie Brands against Everett Scott's Ft. Wayne Strohs Bohemian Beers in their special match for a 50-buck side bet.

A walking delegate has a tough time walking, so I've been told, after a day of walking delegating, but the Bissmans have confidence in Art's ability to stay on his pins, and mow those other pins down.

Great was the alarm and consternation yesterday at Friendly House. Paul Carbetta weighed 118 pounds!

It may be nice to see a boy growing big and strong that way, and breakfast food companies might be able to make something out of it, but 118 pounds is just six pounds too much for a flyweight champion of the Cleveland Golden Gloves to carry into the national tournament at Boston.

Paul was just too healthy. "It was getting my tonsils yanked that did it," he explained, staving off the autograph rush of the cereal firms.

A call to Sam Otis fixed everything up. "We'll enter him in the bantamweight class," said the Cleveland Plain Dealer sports editor. So Paul goes to Boston after all, and is booked to fight Monday night.

CARL BRUMBAUGH GETS BOSTON COLLEGE JOB

NEWTON, Mass. —(UP)— Carl Brumbaugh, former player and scout for the Chicago Bears' professional football team, will be backfield coach at Boston College, Head Coach Denny Myers announced today.

A native of West Milton, O., the 34-year-old Brumbaugh played for Ohio State and the University of Florida before he began his pro career. He coached at West Virginia for a short period.

MCCLINTOCK RETIRES

FREMONT—(AP)—A new football coach will be appointed soon at Ross high school. Supt. U. E. Diener has announced. The present coach, Fred H. McClintock, whose teams won 21 and lost 19 in four years, will confine his activities to teaching.

WILD MEN BOOKED

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—Veteran Schoolboy Rowe and Rookie Virgil (Fire) Trucks, who have been wild and ineffective in previous efforts this spring, were due to team up for another chance today as the Detroit Tigers took on the Florida division of the Brooklyn Dodgers for a third time.

Wolves Battle Eli For Title

Stage Private Fight For Swimming Crown.

By JERRY LISKA

EAST LANSING, Mich.—(AP)—Closing events of the National Collegiate Athletic Association swimming meet today found two perennial rivals, Michigan and Yale, in a private fight for the 1941 team championship.

* * *

Long runner-up to the Wolverines in the collegiate classic, Yale offered bristling resistance as the meet opened yesterday and at the end of six events Michigan held a precarious 36 to 33 lead over the Elis.

Defeats of Michigan's Jim Welsh by Rene Chouteau of Yale in the 1,500 meter race, and by Howard Johnson, Bulldog star who successfully defended his title in the 220-yard free style, were a disappointment to Coach Matt Mann, whose Michigan natators are seeking their ninth straight N. C. A. A. crown.

Welsh, who encounters Chouteau again today in the 440-yard free style, had been expected by Mann to score a triple victory, accomplished in 17 previous meets by only one performer, Jack Medica, former University of Washington star.

However, the Michigan mentor was confident his team would score heavily enough in the 200-yard breast stroke, in which Jim Skinner of the Wolverines is a top heavy favorite; in the 100 and 440-yard free style races, and in the 400-yard free style relay to stow away the championship.

* * *

The rest of the field was strung far behind the leaders. Ohio State and Wayne tied for third with nine points each; Princeton had 6, Minnesota 5, Williams 3, Villanova and Occidental two each, and Dartmouth, Brown and Stanford one each.

Gym Show Has 1,000-Crowd

Laughs an Applause Greet Performers.

A crowd of nearly 1,000 was treated to an evening of free fun and entertainment at Mansfield high school gym last night when 400 boys and girls presented the school's first exhibition of gymnasium activities.

Spectators heartily applauded the maneuvers of the girls' tap dancing classes and both the boys and girls in their tumbling and pyramid building and laughed just as heartily at the clown gymnasts and the square dancing class designed to teach football players rhythm.

Highlight of the show was the series of sport tableaux staged by the gridders at the close of the program, but two "strong men," Jack Wyatt and Arent Sjursen, just about stole individual honors with their weight lifting and balancing acts.

* * *

Physical Director Harry Mehock and his staff, Paul Snyder, Vern Hoffman and Miss Wilma Snider, were well pleased with both the performance and attendance, and plan the exhibition as an annual event.

Fight Results

INDIANAPOLIS—Lou Thomas, 198, Indianapolis, knocked out Joey Parks, 190, St. Louis (3).

HOLLYWOOD—Jimmy Garrison, 141, Kansas City, outpointed Cecil Hudson, 141, San Jose, Calif. (10).

Batter Up!

BILL SOUTHWORTH

Only 20 weeks of flying lie between Bill Southworth and a commission in the U. S. air corps, but when spring is in the air the former Columbus, O., native can't help but think about his baseball days. Southworth played outfield in the Canadian-American league and hit a .346 in 1939.

MAX BAER

LOU NOVA

BILLY CONN

GUNNAR BARLUND

On the night of April 4, in Chicago and New York, two important fights are scheduled. In Chicago, Billy Conn, contender for the heavy crown, meets Gunnar Barlund, a seasoned campaigner. In New York, Lou Nova makes another bid for a title crack in September by meeting the former heavy champ, Maxie Baer.

BOWLING SCORES

Art Thomas paced Orange Street Cafe to a 199-pin victory over Galion McClery's in a special match last night at Meder alleys.

Thomas clicked for 201-244-216—661, and Orange Street cashed in with 1044-1001-911—2956.

Miller led the Humphryes league with 202-218-196—616 and Enamel copped team honors with 869-912-856—2637.

W. Zellers led Ohio Brass league with 179-193-170—562, and team honors went to Iron Finish with 861-845-809—2556.

Asserts Max Baer Easiest to Lick

NEW YORK —(NS)— "The easiest guy in the world to lick is Max Baer!"

This astonishing statement came today from Lou Nova, the big blond Californian who licked Baer two years ago and who is preparing to turn the trick again in Madison Square Garden a week from tonight.

"It was never a surprise to me when Jim Braddock, Joe Louis or anybody else beat Baer," Lou continued earnestly. "The only times Baer ever surprised me was when he managed to beat somebody.

* * *

"Baer is one fellow you can fight according to a set formula. You climb into a ring with anybody else and you'll find your opponent trying different ways to beat you. But not Baer. He fights the same way all the time. He never changes."

Mansfield Quintets Win Tilts

Trounce County Cagers By Last-Half Rallies.

Mansfield quintets staged strong finishes last night to swamp county cagers in a pair of tilts at Madison high school gym for the benefit of the school athletic fund.

Yuncker Sports Defeated Lucas McCready Furnitures 50-34 and Blue Goose Sohioans trounced Butler ExHighs 42-20, but in both cases the winners needed late rallies to clinch the verdict.

* * *

Lucas hung tough in there until the last period. Yunckers gained a 7-5 lead at the quarter and failed to increase the margin at the half which ended 19-17. They picked up two more points for a 30-26 edge at the third quarter and then clinched the verdict by outpointing their opponents 20-8 in the final stanza.

K. Hardin, Herpich and Dials paced the Yuncker attack with a total of 33 points, while Gilliland and Jones chalked up 23 for Lucas

Blue Goose led Butler 7-4 at the quarter but the former Bulldogs gained a 13-2 margin in the second period and led at the half 17-9.

Sohioans blanked Butler in the third frame 10-0 for a 19-17 edge, and continued the spree with a 23-3 splurge in the closing canto.

Bogantz chalked up 14 points for Blue Goose and King hooped 10 for Butler.

Peck Works On Hill Schedule

Leading Moundsmen Get Job Against Giants.

ATLANTA—(AP)—Manager Roger Peckinpaugh is looking forward to the Indians' eighth annual barnstorming tour in the company of the New York Giants as an opportunity to get five starting pitchers into condition for the full nine-inning route.

Two of them will be starting against the Atlanta Crackers before the Redskins join the Giants Monday at Valdosta, Ga. Jim Bagby, whose home town is Atlanta, was named for today's game and Bob Feller nominated for Sunday's tilt.

Three others—Mel Harder, Al Smith and Al Milnar—are included in Peck's plans for some seven-inning stints on the trip north. He would like to give each of the five an oportunity to hurl seven innings, on the theory that anyone who can go seven could go nine without much difficulty.

After the two games with the Crackers here, the Indians will start playing a game a day with the Giants until Easter Sunday, except for next Saturday and Sunday, when the Indians play at Knoxville and the Giants here.

On Easter, the two teams will end their journey in New York and play on the Giants' diamond. The Indians open the season in Cleveland April 15.

* * *

Injuries are not a serious worry as the Indians start up the eastern seaboard. Ken Keltner may be out a day more with a strained back, but Lou Boudreau's lame ankle has mended.

Columbus Five Rolls In ABC

Held Quintet Follows Hermanns on Alleys.

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(U P)—The Held Funeral Directors team, Columbus, Ohio, runner-up in the 1934 and '35 meetings, appears on today's card at the 41st annual American Bowling Congress.

The Hermann Undertakers, St. Louis, who took over first place in the team competition Thursday night, continued their high scoring pace yesterday. Bowling in the individual events, they rolled a composite score of 3,150, one of the highest in A. B. C. history.

Charles O'Donnell and Sam Garofalo, members of the team, landed in second place in the doubles competition with 1,296 while Cone Hermann, captain, reached fifth place in the all-events race with a total score of 1,898.

The standings:

Five man event: Herman Undertakers, St. Louis, 3019; Schmieging Ice Cream, Cincinnati, 2997; Walter C. Eden Insurance, Chicago, 2911; Brunswick Mineralites, Cincinnati, 2904; Nurre Undertakers, Cincinnati, 2898.

Two man event. Elmer Koch-Ned Day, Milwaukee, 1307; Chas. O'Donnell-Sam Garofalo, St. Louis, 1296; Hilla Kallas-Frank Caravella, Milwaukee, 1289; James Lynch-Howard Vautherot, Detroit, 1288; Stephen Turner-Joe Kruk, Gary, Indiana, 1286.

Singles: Hilla Kallas, Milwaukee, 727; Geo Tishock, Milwaukee, 706; James Berado, Chicago, 701; Edward Bock, Hammond, Ind., 700; Russ Gersonde, Milwaukee, 694.

All events: George Tishock, Milwaukee, 1961; Joe Kruk, Gary, Ind., 1922, James Berado, Chicago, 1903; Harry Crowley, Cincinnati, 1901; Cone Hermann, St. Louis, 1898.

MAKE DISCOVERIES

MIAMI—(AP)—In notching their sixth successive victory yesterday—this one at the expense of the Phillies, the Washington Senators discovered: a first baseman who can hit as well as field—Jimmy Vernon; a centerfielder who can throw—Doc Cramer; and a pitcher who looks in regular season form—Dutch Leonard, who allowed two hits and no runs in five frames.

Wisconsin Hopes for Crown

Badgers Meet Washington State In Hoop Finale.

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

KANSAS CITY—(AP)—The Big Ten and Pacific Coast conferences—only circuits ever to produce an NCAA basketball champion—meet again tonight for the 1941 title.

Washington State, ruler along the coast and winner of the western playoffs, is the hope of the far west for the honor won by the University of Oregon in 1939.

Wisconsin, the Big Ten title and the eastern championship already in its possession, hopes to reach the peak that Indiana university did a year ago.

The clubs haven't met a common foe this season but experts name Washington State a slight favorite because of its accomplishment in collecting 1,445 points in 31 games, an average of almost 47.

Wisconsin has its backers, too, who argue that any team capable of holding 22 assorted opponents to an average of 36 4 points is capable of the best the Pacific Coast conference can offer.

Included among the Badger victims is Indiana university which lost 38 to 30 with virtually the same lineup that won the 1940 NCAA crown.

The contest also provides the setting for a duel between two of the nation's best centers, Paul Lindeman of Washington State, and Capt. Gene Englund of Wisconsin.

Lindeman packs 230 pounds on his 6-foot 7-inch frame, and is especially effective under his own basket. He flipped in an average of 20 points against Creighton and Arkansas in the western semi-finals last week.

Englund was the Big Ten's best scorer until late in the season but was edged out at the close.

Englund stands 6 feet, 4 inches tall and weighs 195 pounds.

Modern Cherokee Indians, in North Carolina, retain their ancestor's skill with the blowgun, once a favorite hunting arm of the tribe. They can blow a small shaft, tufted at its base, through a 15 foot reed with enough accuracy to knock squirrels from tall trees.

Nowhere in the world except in California are the giant Sequoias to be found. Reaching a height of 320 feet, a sequoia may be up to 35 feet in diameter, and may be naked for half its height. It can produce enough lumber for a community of approximately 200 four-room houses. This astonishing creation of nature develops from a seed less than a quarter of an inch long.

An ordinary pipe cleaner is a lot handier than a rag in cleaning your bait casting real, especially the level-winding mechanism. It does not catch on sharp corners, and it sheds no lint. By dipping it half way into oil, you can use the oiled end for heavy cleaning and finish off with the dry end.

STOCK LEADERS FAIL TO BOOST MARKET TREND

Westinghouse Among Group Gaining Slight Advance In Short Session.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Leading stocks tried unsuccessfully to develop a trend in today's early market dealings.

At a slow opening minor advances were posted for General Motors, International Harvester, Anaconda, Standard Oil of N. J., and Westinghouse.

Slightly lower were U. S. Steel, American Telephone, General Electric, Kennecott, Southern Pacific and U. S. Rubber.

A hopeful market sign was discerned in reports the Bell system, anticipating telephone installations this year would establish new records, was planning a construction program for 1941 that might top the $500,000,000-mark for the first time since 1930.

TWO HIT BY CARS ON CITY STREETS

Lexington Man, 73, Struck By Hit-Skip Driver; Boy, 4, Hurt; 7 Die In Ohio.

Beer, 327 Park avenue west, police said. The child was treated at General hospital and taken home. He was not believed hurt seriously.

The accident occurred in front of the boy's home at 366 Newman street. Officers said he apparently ran from behind a parked car into the street.

Seven Ohioans died in mishaps Friday in the state, to boost the total for the past three days to 14, an Associated Press dispatch said. Yesterday's victims included a father and his two sons who died in a collision 13 miles west of Toledo.

CLAIMS TOTAL $985.

BUCYRUS—Sheep claims totaling $985.50 and witness fees of $47.05 were allowed by county commissioners Friday for sheep killed and injured by dogs during the first quarter of 1941. The figure is the highest since September, 1937, commissioners announced.

SAYS U. S. WILL CONVOY SHIPS

Official Declares Navy Has Drafted Plans For Aid to British Fleet.

many will take to sink the convoys.

The important government official, however, pointed out one practical side of the convoy question. He said:

"Our nation, led by the president and congress, is committed to 'all out' aid to Britain. We have specifically promised to provide Britain with ships, tanks, planes, guns, ammunition, all kinds of supplies and food. We would be fools to turn these supplies over to Britain at our water-line and watch them go to the bottom of the Atlantic. Hence, some type of American convoying is inevitable."

From hints dropped, it seems the plan does not include actual convoying of British ships into the war zones. The convoying under consideration appears to be a sort of "protective surveillance," under which U. S. cruisers and destroyers would guard the merchant ships, say, half way across the Atlantic, with British destroyers taking up the convoy duty as the vessels near the waters of the war zone.

This could be accomplished, some authorities believe, without committing an overt act of war against Germany by merely extending the American neutrality zone from its present 300-mile limit to the limits of western hemisphere waters.

DETAIN TRUCKS

Union Dues Collectors Tie Up Transportation For 2 Days.

NORWALK — (AP) — Union dues collectors have detained nearly 40 units of the Mutual Midwest Trucking Co., at the concern's Monroeville relay station, for as long as 24 hours in the last two days.

The collection was made by the Cleveland local of the AFL Teamsters' union. Dues were collected from several non-union men, some of whom had to send home for money.

the matter with kid gloves while fighting an enemy with "bare fists and knuckle dusters."

There was only secondary action on the war fronts. The German high command reported the sinking of five enemy merchant ships and a hit on a troop transport 350 miles northwest of Scotland, in a series of raids by the Nazi air force. Two of the five ships were reported sunk at the entrance to St. George's channel between Ireland and England.

The Italian high command reported that Fascist planes had attacked British naval formations and anchored ships, hitting an aircraft carrier and two cruisers and possibly sinking one of the cruisers. British planes, the communique said, raided Lecce airport in southern Italy and severe fighting continued in the Keren sector of Eritrea, East Africa.

There was a lull, however, in action on the Albanian front and for the eighth day there was little or no air activity over Britain.

Turks Report Nazi Troop Concentration

(By United Press)

ISTANBUL, Turkey—(U.P.)—Germany has concentrated 150,000 troops in the southwest corner of Bulgaria in position to strike either southward at Greece or westward at Yugoslavia's Vardar valley, diplomatic travelers said today.

They suggested that Germany was holding up an attack only until the political situation became clear.

Bulgarian troops were now aligned principally along the Turkish frontier, the travelers said, so that the Germans could strike unimpeded at Greece.

Turkish newspapers predicted that Germany was unlikely to attack Yugoslavia at once because if it did Yugoslavia would combine with Greece and drive the Italians in Albania into the sea "within a few days." Also, it was said, British forces in the Near East were ready to go to Yugoslavia and create a wide Balkan front.

CHILLY SPRING

Mercury Drops To 24 But It Will Be Warmer Sunday.

The calendar may show spring is here, but Mansfielders were a bit skeptical today as the mercury dropped to a chilly 24 degrees and snow covered the ground.

The snowfall was just enough to show white on the ground, however, and it was due to disappear today as the skies clear and the mercury starts upward, the weatherman said.

It will be fair and cold tonight and fair and warmer Sunday, the forecast said. Average reading today was 33 degrees, seven below normal. The temperature at noon had climbed only one degree to 25.

The belated wintry blast dropped into Ohio from the north last night, but spring weather is expected to return as the cold moves eastward tonight.

day was forecast by a federal labor conciliator. Steel workers organizing committee members walked out yesterday because of an election by the Employes Representation Plan, which the CIO calls a company union. The SWOC estimated that 11,000 of the 15,000 workers failed to enter the plant.

At Aliquippa, Pa., the management of the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation reported a brief work halt yesterday when 400 men and 125 girls quit, saying they would not work with non-union men. A company spokesman said work was resumed when the union leaders were told "intimidation or coercion" would violate a contract.

There were widely varying reports concerning the number of workers who have returned to the plant of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company at Milwaukee, which was ordered reopened by national defense officials. The CIO contended only 46 men passed through the gates yesterday morning, while the company said 2,000 went back to work on $45,000,000 worth of defense orders held by the firm.

The SWOC called a strike at the Parkersburg (W. Va.) Iron and Steel company plant when negotiators failed to agree on a wage contract. The plant, employing 450, is working on stovepipes for army camps.

An injunction issued by a federal judge at Hammond, Ind., yesterday limited the SWOC to not more than 10 pickets at each entrance to plants of United States Steel corporation subsidiaries in Gary. The pickets stopped workers to check up on payment of dues.

Negotiators worked fast in New York in an effort to reach a new contract agreement affecting 330,000 soft coal miners in the eight-state Appalachian region. The present agreement between the CIO United Mine Workers and the operators expires Monday. The union wants $1-a-day increases and a guarantee of 200 days work a year.

GET ESTIMATES

Commissioners Told Erie Span Will Cost $292,290.

The proposed Erie railroad underpass west of Mansfield will cost $292,290 with the cost divided four ways, county commissioners learned tonight from the state highway department.

The county will be the second largest contributor to the project, agreeing to pay $40,000 as against $222,290 by the federal government. The state will contribute $25,500 and the Erie railroad, $4,500.

A part of a huge grade elimination project on route 30-N, the Erie underpass will cost considerably more than the B. and O. overhead just east of the Erie crossing. The county, however, will not participate in the B. and O. project. Total of both jobs will be close to a half-million dollars.

Specifications for the jobs have been set up by the state and federal government and it is expected that contracts for the work will be awarded this summer.

BREAKING ICE

Third Craft Joins Cutters In Task at Mackinac.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The S. S. Sainte Marie will join two coast guard cutters Monday to assist in breaking 6-inch ice in the Straits of Mackinac. The cutters Tahoma and Escanaba already are at work.

After completion of the ice-breaking about April 1 the three boats will undertake a similar work in Whitefish bay, Lake Superior, coast guard headquarters announced.

THEATERS

Colorful Period.

The same sensational situations that characterized Fannie Hurst's novel "Back Street," were captured in the motion picture production of the same name opening today at the Ohio. Directed by the young English novelist Robert Stevenson, the story covers the period from 1898 to 1930 as it was lived in Cincinnati, New York and Paris by the leading characters played by Charles Boyer and Margaret Sullavan. Miss Sullavan plays 'Ray Smith," a girl content to live in the back street of the life of a wealthy man sacrificing herself to help him in a world famous career. Frank McHugh and Tim Holt are in the cast.

Dramatic Panorama.

Panorama of one generation is shown in the dramatic picture "Adam Had Four Sons," currently showing at the Madison. Based on Charles Bonner's best seller the production has Warner Baxter in the role of the father, Ingrid Bergman as a governess and Susan Hayward, a newcomer, as the irresponsible young woman who almost wreaks disaster in the lives of five men. Richard Denning, Johnny Downs, Robert Shaw and Charles Lind play the sons and Fay Wray and Helen Westley are in the supporting cast. Second feature, "Blondie Goes Latin," has the popular trio, Blondie, Dagwood and Baby Dumpling for its characters.

Technicolor Epic.

Filmed on an 'epic scale from every angle, "Northwest Mounted Police," playing Sunday at the Ritz deals with an interesting period in history. Technicolor brings the Metis uprising against the Canadian government to life and shows the mounties in full battle. Co-starred in the production are Gary Cooper and Madeleine Carroll. Cooper as a Texas ranger and the blond Madeleine as a gallant nurse. Preston Foster, Akim Tamiroff, George Bancroft and Walter Hampden are in the cast. "Where Did You Get That Girl?" is the co-attraction.

Tone In Western.

Franchot Tone has the first Western role of his career in "Trail of the Vigilantes," beginning Sunday at the Park. It is likewise his first screen appearance since his New York stage production. Tone portrays an undercover agent sent to the Western frontier by a Kansas City newspaper to hunt down the murderer of a reporter. At first skeptical of cowboys and their ways the agent finds himself fascinated by ranch life and after meeting up with Peggy Moran decides to stay in the west. Mischa Auer, Warren Williams, Broderick Crawford and Andy Devine are in the cast. "Caught In the Act," with Henry Armetta and Iris Meredith is the second attraction.

Sparkling Comedy.

Sparkling situations fill "The Doctor Takes a Wife," playing Sunday at the Majestic. Loretta Young and Ray Milland head the cast as a young authoress who suddenly finds herself married to a doctor with a hate for all career woman. Her marriage is a matter of convenience however arranged by her publisher Reginald Gardiner who insists the married state continue until he can extricate her. Gail Patrick plays Milland's sweetheart. "Meet Boston Blackie," with Chester Morris and Rochelle Hudson completes the feature bill.

cials is the difference between democracy and Nazism or Communism," he said.

Valtin described in his book underground conspiracies and overt terrorism that he said constituted the Communist movement, of which he was a prominent member in Germany. He escaped to the United States and is now seeking asylum here.

"When I can apply for citizenship, I shall be deeply grateful," he said. "I regard America as my country now. I hope to stay here in spite of Communists' attempts to smear me as a spy."

He said immigration officials met him after he made a broadcast in Washington Wednesday night and "requested me to come here to answer some questions."

In Washington, department of justice officials said he had "jumped ship" and entered illegally on March 6, 1938, at Norfolk, Va.; that he had served a three-year sentence, from 1926 to 1929, in California's San Quentin prison for assault; that he had been deported to Germany on Dec. 9, 1929; that he had belonged to an organization advocating overthrow of the United States government by violence and personally advocated this at the time of his entry.

The department said Krebs admitted joining the Communist party in 1928 and claimed he quit in 1937.
